This is a great country, isn't it? When you can start from really humble beginnings, work hard and believe passionately you can accomplish something special. For me, to be the head coach at the University of Tennessee is a dream come true. I've been involved with college basketball for 27 years and I am ready for this awesome opportunity.

At the University of Tennessee we put our student-athletes in position to be the best they can be and see their dreams come true. Not only do we compete for championships in all sports and play in the nation's toughest conference, but we also provide some of the best academic support and programs around. At Tennessee we are totally committed to the student-athlete's academic success and personal development. With hard work, dedication and the proper guidance, this is a place where the sky is the limit.

The Tennessee basketball program boasts a proud history that has produced 23 All-Americas, 71 first team All-Southeastern Conference selections and 42 NBA Draft picks. UT has won eight SEC titles and has advanced to postseason play 24 times. For 28 consecutive years UT has ranked among the Top 25 nationally in attendance, including ranking 20th in 2005.

I am not the right guy to play for if a student-athlete isn't willing to try to reach his full potential. I want guys who want to get better, are hungry for knowledge and play each game like it might be their last. To accomplish this, a student-athlete needs a university that can provide the best in facilities, academic support, coaching and exposure. We are interested in recruiting the finest student-athletes in the country.

I am proud of the great history of Tennessee basketball and excited about the future.

WINNING:

Here at the University of Tennessee, we take winning on the court and in the classroom very seriously. We have had more than our share of student-athletes earn the opportunity to play professional basketball and are proud of that. But it is our goal that every one of our young men earn a college degree. Even the most successful professional athletes need their degree because being finished in basketball by your early thirties means most guys have more than 40-50 years to live and remain active. In addition, statistics show those players with college degrees made more money while playing and had longer pro careers.

The Tennessee Basketball Program stands by its student-athletes even after their playing days are over. The Renewing Academic Commitment - or RAC Program - was started to help former student-athletes who did not graduate during their athletic eligibility have a chance to come back and finish their degree. Many colleges do not have the commitment to former players. We stand behind our goal of trying to help every one of our student-athletes earn a degree.

So, as you can see, Tennessee Basketball is about much more than just wins and losses on the basketball court. We take very seriously our wins and losses in the classroom. Luckily for us, we are winning the battles on both fronts. The University of Tennessee is a top academic institution that offers more than 100 degree programs in numerous fields. We hope you will visit us in person so you can see first-hand what a great university we have to offer academically, as well as seeing how our academic support programs for student athletes are among the nation's best.

The Thornton Athletics Student Life Center features state-of-the-art computer labs, individual and classroom tutorial labs, a writing center and special facilities for the learning disabled. This Center has changed the face of the Athletics Student Life program at the University of Tennessee.

Thornton Center Mission Statement

"The University of Tennessee and its Athletic Departments are committed to the academic success of each student-athlete. The mission of the Thornton Center is to provide the academic support, the educational programs and the learning environment in which all student-athletes have the opportunity to achieve their academic and personal goals. The Center also will encourage the student-athletes' participation in the many enriching opportunities available at the University and in the surrounding community."

The Classroom

"We expect our student-athletes to compete in the classroom as well as on the basketball court. At the University of Tennessee we give each of our players the opportunity to succeed as an athlete, a student and as an individual. The Thornton Athletics Student Life Center offers the finest student support in the nation."

Winning in the Community

"Community service is an earned privilege for Tennessee athletes, gained through hard work in the classroom and on the playing field. None of the players are forced to go into the community, but the Volunteers have decided to make it a tradition here at Tennessee. Every single player ventures into the community at one time or another. Although many players have not chosen to be role models, they have earned the status nonetheless through their accomplishments. We consider it an extremely important part of a student-athlete's development as he grows and matures into a future businessman, father and member of the community."

LADY VOLUNTEER HEAD COACH

ROB PATRICK

Ninth Year at Tennessee

Now in his ninth season at the helm of the Lady Vol volleyball program, Rob Patrick and his staff are ready to provide the leadership for a 2005 team which features a number of high-quality returning players, including three All-Americans, along with a top-quality group of incoming players. In the first eight seasons Patrick has been at Rocky Top, the foundation of the Orange and White program has been founded and built upon, as evidenced by a 2000 NCAA Tournament berth and advancement into the NCAA Regional Semifinal round at the 2004 tourney. His current seven-year stretch of winning seasons matches the longest-such run in program history, matching the 1978-84 stretch.

In 2004, Patrick brought the program to levels never seen before at Rocky Top, leading the Big Orange to a 32-3 record and .914 winning percentage, the highest ever at Tennessee. The Lady Vols won an SEC regular-season title for the first time in school history, defeating Florida, 3-2, on the final day of the season to tie the Gators with an identical 15-1 marks. Seven days later, the Orange and White made it two titles in two weeks, topping UF, once again by a 3-2 score, in the SEC Tournament championship match. A couple of weeks following that accomplishment, the Lady Vols won a pair of NCAA Tournament matches for the initial time in Tennessee annals and advanced to the Sweet 16 for the first time in 20 years. Not only did he win both the AVCA South Region and the SEC Coach of the Year awards, but he also earned CVU.com National Coach of the Year honors. He was a finalist for the AVCA National Coach of the Year award.

The campaign marked the seventh-consecutive winning season, tying the longest such stretch at Tennessee (1978-84). The Big Orange now has won 20 or more games in three straight campaigns and done so four times in a five-year span. Prior to Patrick's arrival at Rocky Top in 1997, the Lady Vols last recorded a 20-win season in 1988. Under his tutelage a year ago, four Lady Vols earned All-American honors, including junior setter Julie Knytych (third team), junior outside hitter Amy Morris, junior middle blocker Kristen Andre and senior outside hitter Michelle Piantadosi (all honorable mention).

The Lady Vols ascended the polls to levels never before attained by a Tennessee squad, reaching as high as ninth in the second-to-last set of rankings before finishing a very impressive 10th in the AVCA/CSTV Top 25 Coaches Poll. Coming into the season, the Big Orange had not cracked the national rankings in 19 years and had never been higher than 13th.

The Big Orange also posted outstanding numbers on the stat sheet. As a team, the Lady Vols set school records in kills/game (16.94), assists/game (15.33) and digs/game (17.03). The dig and assist sums also set school standards. Knytych compiled 1,709 helpers on the season, not only a new school mark, but also the third-highest total in SEC history and just 36 off the record. Morris compiled 435 digs on the season, the second-highest total seen at Rocky Top.

The senior class of Piantadosi and Whitney Gifford left Tennessee as the winningest four-year class at Tennessee, compiling a .726 winning percentage (90-34).

The 2003 season saw Patrick lead the Lady Vols to a 22-9 record for their best winning percentage in 20 years, .710. The 10-6 record in SEC play was UT's best conference mark since the 1989 squad also turned in a .625 winning percentage, albeit with a 5-3 mark. Additionally, the 10 SEC victories were also the most in school history at the time.

Patrick made the most of the talented young squad that season, as not a single senior dotted the roster, and 12 of the 14 players were underclassmen. Knytych recorded 1,406 assists, the fifth-highest total by a Lady Vol, while her 12.44 assists/game was the sixth-highest average. Morris had 397 digs for the fourth-largest sum at Rocky Top. Team marks were also impressive, as the Orange and White recorded 1,950 digs to set a then-team record and hit .252, the best mark since 1988.

The 2002 campaign saw Patrick and the Big Orange record an impressive 20-11 ledger. What made the year even more special was the fact that despite having a team comprised primarily of freshmen, Patrick and his youngsters still found success. Patrick also earned his 100th career victory during the season with a 3-0 conquest of East Carolina on Sept. 14 at the Toyota Lady Vol Classic. Janelle Hester and Kelli Scott, the team's lone seniors, earned their 1,000th career kills during the year, and Scott recorded her 1,000th dig as well, becoming only the fourth Lady Vol with 1,000 kills and digs. Scott also earned First-Team Verizon Academic All-District IV Volleyball accolades. She was only the fourth player in UT history to receive such recognition.

In 2001, his team compiled a 16-11 record. The highlight of the year came on Oct. 7 against 17th-ranked South Carolina, when Patrick notched his first victory over a ranked opponent in his tenure at Tennessee. Following the conclusion of the campaign, three of Patrick's players achieved All-SEC distinction for the second year in a row, including two first-team members, seniors Ariana Wilson and Lear. It was the first time since 1988 that two Lady Vols earned first-team recognition. Hester rounded out the trio with a spot on the second team for the second consecutive year. Wilson was also tabbed to the American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA) Division I All-South District Team for the third straight season.

Patrick oversaw a talented mix of experienced veterans and newcomers, bursting with enthusiasm in 2000, and guided them to the team's fourth consecutive appearance in the semifinals of the Southeastern Conference Tournament. Additionally, the team boasted a program-best 12-2 start before ending the year with its highest win total (23) since 1988. The 2000 squad also totaled nine SEC wins while sweeping the Western Division for the first time since the conference went to the divisional format in 1995.

Two members of Patrick's 2000 brigade were placed on the AVCA Division I All-South District Team, as Wilson received her second nod and Lear made the list for the first time. Scott became the initial Lady Vol to be named as the AVCA/Sports Imports National Player of the Week in October under Patrick's guidance. Six Lady Vols, Kristen Clements, Jennifer Elliott, Laura Paul, Andrea Peterson, Scott and Wilson, earned Academic All-SEC honors that year, and Wilson represented Tennessee on the SEC's first team. Lear and Hester were named to the league's second team.

In his third season, Patrick guided the team to a 19-13 overall record, advancing to the semifinals of the Southeastern Conference Tournament for the third season in a row. Patrick coached Wilson to the AVCA Division I All-District IV Team, marking the first time since 1992 that a Lady Vol received such an honor. In addition to the All-District team, Wilson was also named first-team All-SEC and earned a spot on the SEC All-Tournament Team. Senior Erika Brez, sophomore Stephanie Knight and Lear joined the club as second-team All-SEC selections.

In his second campaign, behind the play of four freshmen starters and the experience of its four seniors, UT posted a 19-10 overall record, the school's best mark in 11 years. The team advanced past the first round of the SEC Tournament for the second straight season, marking the first time in nearly a

UP CLOSE WITH ROB PATRICK

What is your favorite memory of your time so far as a Tennessee volleyball coach?

"My favorite specific memory is winning the SEC championship last year. The University of Tennessee Women's Athletics Department supports its student-athletes and sports at the highest level. To be able to help build the volleyball program over the last eight years to a top-10 national ranking and winning the SEC championship is a very rewarding experience. My favorite memory that is constant is having all of my players who have completed their eligibility graduate."

What do you like most about coaching?

"Working with the student-athletes every day and helping them make good decisions in their lives and watching them mature into young ladies. The relationships that are built with our student-athletes as well as with my coaching staff and the other very successful coaches here at Tennessee."

One thing that would surprise people about me is:

"That I went on a week-long cattle drive in Wyoming this summer."

LADY VOLUNTEER HEAD COACH

decade that the Lady Vols had captured at least one tournament match in consecutive seasons.

In his initial season at Tennessee, with only seven healthy players, he guided the Lady Vols to a 15-19 overall record, including a 3-0 victory over Alabama in the first round of the SEC Tournament. The triumph was the Lady Vols' first postseason victory since a 3-0 win over Florida in 1988.

Patrick played a major role in the UT program in June of 1997 after spending the previous three seasons as an assistant coach with national powerhouse Stanford. From 1994 to 1996, he helped lead the Cardinal to a combined 92-6 record and two NCAA championships, including a 1996 title-game victory over Hawaii. During that stint, Stanford never lost a home match en route to participating in the 1995 NCAA Final Four and winning three consecutive Pac-10 titles.

Patrick was a major reason for Stanford's success because of his work on the recruiting front. He was instrumental in the Cardinal freshmen class being ranked second in the nation by prep volleyball magazines in 1996 and was there to help coach the country's top class in 1994. Included in those two recruiting hauls were the 1994 and 1996 high school volleyball players of the year.

In daily activities, Patrick assisted in formulating practice plans, running drills and working on the skill development of players. During his three years at Stanford, he trained the 1994 and 1995 National Players of the Year, the 1994 and 1996 National Freshmen of the Year, 10 All-Americans and 14 All-Pac-10 selections. He also coached five players who were chosen to the 1995 U.S. Olympic Festival Teams and two players who were picked to play for the USA National Team.

His expertise did not go unnoticed by the sport's national governing bodies. He was selected by USA Volleyball as one of five coaches to evaluate and choose players for the Junior National Team at tryouts held throughout the country. He also worked with the Director of Youth Development and Programs for USA Volleyball in assessing the players who were picked for the 1996 and 1997 Junior National Teams. Additionally, he was chosen to coach at the USA Volleyball 14-and-under Junior Development camp in San Jose, California.

As a club coach, Patrick was active with two highly-successful programs. From 1994 to 1996, he was head coach of the top 16-and-under age team for the Griffin Volleyball Club in San Jose. That team qualified for, and played in, the top division of the Northern California USVA juniors program. It also qualified as one of 48 teams for the 1996 Junior Olympic volleyball tournament in San Jose.

Prior to that, he was head coach of the 17-and-under squad and assistant coach for the 18-and-under team from 1987 to 1994 with the South Bay Volleyball Club in Manhattan Beach, Calif. From 1990 to 1994, his junior age group squad finished in the top 20 out of more than 200 teams at the Nike Festival volleyball tournament in Davis, Calif. In 1993, the 18-and-under team he helped coach won the tournament championship at Davis. From 1991 to 1994, more than 20 of his former club players earned Division I volleyball scholarships to schools in conferences such as the Pac-10, SEC, ACC, Big West and West Coast.

As a competitor, Patrick was a standout indoors and on the beach circuit. He played collegiate volleyball at Miami University and remained active in tournament competitions for several years. He twice earned United States Volleyball Association All-America distinction and owned a AAA beach rating.

Participating in the USVBA Men's Open National Championships from 1986 to 1993, his team finished in the top four from 1989 to 1993 and played in the 1991 championship match. Meanwhile, Patrick's coed squad played in the Coed Open National Championships from 1986 to 1993, reaching the open division title match from 1989 to 1992 and winning national crowns in 1990 and 1992.

Originally from Cleveland, Ohio, Patrick also played football in college. He served as president of the volleyball club during his last two years at MU and received his bachelor's degree in business, with emphasis in accounting, from Miami in 1983. In addition to his coaching pursuits, Patrick worked as the vice president for a large homebuilding company for three years and he served as a financial consultant in the real estate field industry before beginning his coaching duties at Stanford.

THE PATRICK FILE

- Guided the Lady Vols back to the NCAA Regional Semifinals in 2004 for the first time in 20 years
- Helped Tennessee earn a top-10 finish in the USA Today/CSTV Top 25 Coaches Poll
- In 2004, led UT to an SEC co-regular season title, its first in school history, and tournament title, the initial one seen at Rocky Top in 20 seasons
- Led the Big Orange to the NCAA Tournament in 2000 for the first time since 1993
- Led the Lady Vols to four straight semifinal berths at the SEC Tournament from 1997-2000 and again in 2003
- Recorded seven consecutive winning seasons, matching a stretch between 1978-84 as the longest streak in school history
- In five years at UT, players have been recognized on All-SEC teams 20 times and on the Academic All-SEC list on 47 occasions
- Coached four players to AVCA All-America teams and two to AVCA All-District teams at Tennessee
- Helped coach Stanford to three NCAA Volleyball Final Fours and two national championships
- In three years, the Cardinal were 92-6 and won three straight Pac-10 championships
- Coached 10 All-Americans and 14 Pac-10 all-conference players at Stanford
- Helped assemble the 1996 recruiting class at Stanford that was ranked No. 2 in the nation

NATIONAL COACH OF THE YEAR

The Collegiate Volleyball Update announced following the 2004 season that Rob Patrick was selected as the CVU.com National Coach of the Year. Patrick, who had just completed his eighth season at the helm of the Lady Vols, led a squad of players with no NCAA Tournament experience to a 32-3 record (at .914, the highest winning percentage in school history) and advancement to the NCAA regional semifinals. The 32 wins are the most at Rocky Top since the 1981 squad went 34-22.

The Lady Vols' breakthrough season was highlighted by a 30-21, 23-30, 25-30, 31-29, 15-12 win at then-No. 7 Florida on Nov. 14 in the final regular-season match of the SEC campaign. The victory ended three historic SEC winning streaks for the Gators: an NCAA-record 145-match regular-season winning streak dating to 1994, a 121-match overall streak (including SEC Tournaments, also an NCAA record) dating to 1997 and a 109-match home winning streak dating to 1990. The win earned UT an SEC regular-season co-championship, its first regular-season conference crown in school history.

Tennessee then came out seven days later and defeated the Gators, ranked 10th at that point, again on their home court, in the SEC Tournament title match, 18-30, 30-27, 30-27, 17-30, 15-5. The win clinched for UT the SEC's automatic berth into the NCAA Tournament and was the Lady Vols' first in a tournament championship match since 1984.

The victories over the Gators doubled the Big Orange's win total over top-10 competition in school history. Tennessee previously topped No. 9 Arizona State, 2-15, 15-1, 15-10, 15-9, on Sept. 17, 1983, and No. 7 Arizona, 15-11, 1-15, 15-13, on Nov. 5, 1982. The Orange and White had lost 44 straight versus top-10 opposition and brought a 2-53 all-time mark against those opponents into the Nov. 14 match.

The Big Orange then won its first and second round matches in the NCAA Tournament over Eastern Kentucky, 30-24, 30-16, 30-22, and Texas A&M, 30-21, 24-30, 30-23, 32-30, to record its first two-win NCAA Tournament in school history and fourth advancement into the NCAA regional semifinals. The historic season finally came to an end at the hands of the Ohio State Buckeyes, 29-31, 27-30, 30-16, 30-26, 15-12. The 14-match winning streak that UT brought into that match was the Orange and White's longest since a 22-match skein from Oct. 2-31, 1980.

The Lady Vols soared as high as ninth in the USA Today/CSTV Top 25 Coaches Poll. That ranking was achieved on Dec. 6 following UT's victories in the NCAA Tournament's first and second rounds. The final poll had the Lady Vols in the 10th slot. Prior to 2004, the highest ranking the Lady Vols had attained was 13th, reached three times in the 1983 season.

LADY VOLUNTEER ASSISTANT COACH

MIKE MINNIS
Fifth Year at Tennessee

Mike Minnis joined Head Coach Rob Patrick's bench in April of 2001 and made an immediate impact in the area of recruiting. Minnis' duties at Tennessee include evaluating talent as well as coordinating recruiting and team stats. Additionally, he is involved in scheduling and works with the outside hitters and defensive specialists on the court.

In his time at Rocky Top, Minnis has helped lead the Lady Vols to an impressive 90-34 mark (.726), the highest winning percentage seen in any four-year span at Tennessee. The Orange and White advanced to the NCAA Regional Semifinals in 2004 and finished 10th in the final AVCA/CSTV Top 25 Coaches Poll.

The outside hitters and defensive specialists have both seen remarkable improvements as evidenced by players such as Michelle Piantadosi (finished her career in 2004 as an AVCA Honorable Mention All-American) and Annie Sadowski (moved from 23 digs in 2003 to 315 last year).

Minnis spent the 2000 season as an assistant coach at Seward County Community College in Liberal, Kan. Before his stint with Seward, he was an assistant coach at the University of Oklahoma from 1994 through 2000, serving as the recruiting coordinator for the Sooners from 1996 to 2000.

A 1993 graduate of the University of Central Oklahoma, Minnis served as an assistant coach at his alma mater from 1989 to 1994, also working as a clinician at its camps.

His involvement and dedication to the sport of volleyball has not been limited to the collegiate game. Minnis, along with former OU Head Coach Miles Pabst and many others, began a quest to enhance volleyball at high schools throughout the state of Oklahoma. His efforts obviously paid immediate dividends, as the number of high schools sponsoring the sport of volleyball increased from 40 in 1993 to more than 100 in 1999.

In 1990, Minnis served on the Oklahoma Region United States Volleyball Association (USVBA) Board of Directors, a position he held until 1992. From 1996 to 1998, he was an advisor to the director of the Youth National Team. In addition, Minnis served as the training site coordinator for the 1996 Summer Olympics in Atlanta and assisted with tryouts for the 1996 Youth National Team.

Minnis is the co-author of "Fundamentals of Volleyball," a teaching tool for the Oklahoma High School Association. Along with Coach Pabst, Minnis also completed three skill videos aimed at high school and club coaches.

THE MINNIS FILE

- Coached five players who have been members of the U.S. National Team
- Helped lead Lady Vols to best four-year run in school history (2001-05)
- Tutored seven All-Americans (four at UT), 10 All-Big 12 and nine All-SEC selections
- Helped guide the 1996 Oklahoma squad that led the nation in assists
- Coached OU's outside hitting duo of Melissa Peterson and Patrice Arrington to second place on the NCAA's career combined kills list

UP CLOSE WITH MIKE MINNIS

What is your favorite memory of your time so far as a Tennessee volleyball coach?

"My favorite memory is beating Florida on its home court in the last conference match of the season to win the SEC Championship, made extra special because of the streak (UF brought an NCAA-record 145-match SEC winning streak into the contest). In my four years here, what we've worked on since day one is to win the SEC and build the program into a perennial top-25 team."

What do you like most about coaching?

"Seeing the joy and excitement that the players exude after successes and what winning matches, like last year's wins over Florida, mean to them. Seeing that emotion for a minute is worth all the long nights."

Some things that would surprise people about me are:

"That I memorized all the cards in Trivial Pursuit, and my family will no longer play with me, I live in a 1920s school house, had a lynx as a pet as a child and had one of the top-10 scores in the world on Galaga (a classic arcade game)."

LADY VOLUNTEER ASSISTANT COACH

CINDY YOUNG
Third Year at Tennessee

In her third season with the Lady Volunteer volleyball program is former Georgia Bulldog standout and assistant coach Cindy Young. Young's primary responsibilities include acting as UT's summer camp director, managing team travel, handling equipment and statistics, assisting with recruiting and working directly with middle blockers.

In her two years at Tennessee, Young has helped lead the Lady Vols to their best pair of seasons in more than two decades. As the Big Orange recorded impressive 22-9 and 32-3 marks, middle blockers Kristen Andre (2004 AVCA Honorable Mention All-American) and Sarah Blum (all-time blocks/game leader at Tennessee) have served up outstanding performances both seasons.

Young served as the head volleyball coach for Athens Academy in Georgia prior to joining Tennessee. In her only season with the school, she led the squad to the 2002 A/AA state championship match. For her efforts, she was named the Georgia High School Association's Coach of the Year. Young was also a health and physical education instructor for the institution as well.

As an assistant coach for the University of Georgia from 1996-01, Young was responsible for all facets relating to the operation of the team, including team training, recruiting, academic advising, statistical analysis, organization of team travel, event management and coordinating home tournaments. She was also in charge of running Georgia's summer volleyball camp. Young has also served as an instructor at numerous other volleyball camps for more than a decade.

The Bonita Springs, Fla., native did not limit herself to working strictly with Georgia's volleyball team, as she was an event management intern for the Bulldogs in spring 2001, when she assisted the school in hosting the NCAA Gymnastics Championships. Young was primarily accountable for directing and organizing all activities relating to the NCAA YES Clinic. She also assisted with hospitality for the event.

Georgia compiled an impressive record of 79-24 (.767) during Young's playing days as an outside hitter under the tutelage of former Head Coach Jim Iams. The Bulldogs also finished with a 34-8 (.810) regular-season mark in SEC competition and finished second at the league tournament on two occasions during that time. Georgia competed in the NCAA Tournament in each of Young's seasons, reaching the Sweet 16 in 1993 for the third time in school history.

Young was no stranger to success in the classroom, either, as she was named to the University of Georgia Director's Honor Roll from 1991-96. She was also a Fort Myers Rotary Scholar-Athlete Scholarship recipient in 1991. Volunteer work also played a role during Young's tenure as a player, as she offered her services to the 1996 Olympic Games and the Georgia Special Olympics from 1992-95.

Young earned her B.S. in exercise sport science from UGA in March 1996. While she was an assistant coach for the Bulldogs, Young also received a master's degree in sport management in May 2001.

THE YOUNG FILE

- Coached talented group of middle blockers, including Kristen Andre (2004 Honorable Mention All-American) and Sarah Blum (all time blocks/game leader at UT)
- Helped lead UT to best two-year span seen at Rocky Top in more than two decades
- Played at the University of Georgia, earning three letters from 1992-94
- Competed in the NCAA Tournament for three straight seasons with the Bulldogs
- Served as an assistant coach at UGA from 1996-2001
- Named Georgia High School Association's Coach of the Year in 2002 while at Athens Academy
- Earned a B.S. in exercise science and a master's degree in sport management from the University of Georgia

UP CLOSE WITH CINDY YOUNG

What is your favorite memory of your time so far as a Tennessee volleyball coach?
"Beating Florida twice in eight days in 2004 on its home court to win the SEC regular-season and tournament championships."

What do you like most about coaching?
"Developing relationships with players and making a difference in the lives of young people."

Some things that would surprise people about me are:
"I love to play golf, enjoy making pottery on the wheel and enjoy riding my unicycle when I have enough energy."

VOLLEYBALL SUPPORT STAFF

TARA BROOKS
Event Management Graduate Assistant

Tara Brooks is in her first year as a graduate assistant with the UT Women's Athletics Department. Brooks' responsibilities include event management for all home tennis matches, track & field meets and volleyball matches. The Maryville, Tenn., native is familiar with UT, as she served as a manager for the Lady Vol basketball team the past three seasons. Brooks is on pace to graduate from Tennessee in December 2005 with a bachelor's degree in marketing and will pursue a master's degree in sport management.

AMANDA BROWN
Manager

Amanda Brown is in her first year as a manager for the Lady Volunteer volleyball team. Her duties include assisting with game and practice court management, facility operations and office projects. The Chattanooga, Tenn., native is pursuing a master's degree in sport psychology. Brown graduated from Maryville College in December 2004 with a bachelor's degree in psychology and a minor in German. While at MC, Brown was a four-year letterwinner for the Lady Scot volleyball team.

JIMMY DELANEY
Marketing and Promotions Director

Jimmy Delaney is in his ninth year with the Lady Vols and his second as the marketing and promotions director after being promoted from interim director to his full-time position in May 2004. A native of Kenosha, Wis., Delaney spent two years as a graduate assistant in the Lady Volunteer Marketing Department while he earned his master's degree in sport administration. As an undergraduate, Delaney worked as a marketing and promotions student assistant while pursuing his bachelor's degree in sport administration.

Delaney's résumé includes working with his former high school marketing teacher, who developed a broad-based curriculum to aide in teaching the topic of sports marketing at the high school level. As the Lady Vol marketing and promotions director, Delaney is responsible for the development, implementation, execution and evaluation of promotional and marketing strategies for all aspects of the women's athletics department.

JEFF FALLIS
Tickets & Business Graduate Assistant

Jeff Fallis is in his second year as a graduate assistant with the Lady Vol Ticket Office. As a three-year letterwinner in football, Fallis earned All-America honors at the University of Dayton during his junior year. He graduated in 2003 with a bachelor's degree in political science/pre-law. After graduation, he completed a year-long internship at the University of Cincinnati in the athletic ticket office. Fallis' responsibilities include assisting with ticket operations, doing support work for the marketing and development offices, taking care of day-to-day ticket needs and coordinating game-day sales for basketball, soccer, softball and volleyball. A native of Akron, Ohio, Fallis is currently pursuing a master's degree in sport administration at UT.

ERIN HALLMAN
Athletic Training Graduate Assistant

Erin Hallman is in her first year in the Lady Vol Athletic Training Department and will be working with the volleyball program. In May 2005, the Gilbert, S.C., native graduated from the University of South Carolina with a degree in athletic training. While at the University of South Carolina she played golf and acted as a student trainer with the football, men's soccer, women's tennis and volleyball teams. She is pursuing a master's degree in sports psychology.

MATT MACDONALD
Media Relations Graduate Assistant

Matt MacDonald is in his second year as a Lady Vol media relations graduate assistant and will work with the tennis and volleyball programs. As an undergrad at Pacific Lutheran University, he worked for three years as a student assistant in the sports information office, competed for a season in cross country and, in May 2003, completed work on a double major in journalism and theatre. His senior year, he earned Outstanding Student honors from the print journalism department. Following graduation, MacDonald worked for a year as a media relations intern at San Diego State University. He is currently pursuing a master's degree in sport management.

KRISTEN MORELLI
Manager

Kristen Morelli is in her first year as a manager for the Lady Volunteer volleyball team. The sophomore from Memphis, Tenn., is an advertising and public relations major at the University of Tennessee. Her duties include assisting with game and practice court management, facility operations and office projects. Prior to UT, Morelli spent two years at Ouachita Baptist University, where she was a member of the volleyball team.

JUDY PORTERFIELD
Media Relations Secretary

Judy Porterfield is in her 11th year with the University of Tennessee Women's Athletics Department, working primarily with compliance, golf, media relations and volleyball. In her spare time, she enjoys working in her flower garden. Porterfield lives in Knoxville and is soon to be a proud grandmother to daughter Jessie and son-in-law Will Cogdill's first addition to the family.

BRIAN RICE
Manager

Brian Rice is in his second season as a manager for the Lady Volunteer volleyball team after spending four years as a student assistant in the media relations department. The Knoxville, Tenn. native's responsibilities include distribution and maintenance of team equipment and apparel and assisting in administrative office duties and video of practices and matches. Rice graduated from the University of Tennessee in 2005 with a bachelor's degree in sport management and a minor in business administration. He is currently pursuing a master's degree in sport management.

TENNESSEE VOLLEYBALL CAMP

Aspiring female volleyball players will have an opportunity to learn the sport from some of the best at the Tennessee Volleyball Camp. Lady Vol Head Coach Rob Patrick and his staff will conduct summer camps in July, where students of the game will have an opportunity to learn a variety of skills from Lady Vol staff and players as well as other national and local volleyball coaches. All volleyball skills and techniques, along with footwork, movement skills, speed development, agility and specialized setter and hitter training will be emphasized during the sessions.

A former collegiate player himself, Patrick's success as a coach at one of the nation's top club programs, as well as 1994 and 1996 NCAA Champion Stanford, has led him to help develop some of the nation's top players, including members of the U.S. National Team.

The 2006 camp will be held on the campus of the University of Tennessee and is open to girls in grades five through 12. Campers with all experience levels are welcome.

PATRICK ON ANDRE: "Kristen may be the best physical athlete, not only on our team, but in the women's athletics department. She is a hard worker who leads by example, and we're really fortunate to have her on this team for another year to lead our middles. It is hard for opposing teams to defend Kristen's speed and, because of her athleticism and quickness, not only is she an effective hitter, but she opens up the offense for other hitters as well."

JACKIE RAMSDALE

#18

6-2 • Freshman-HS
Middle Blocker
Kingsport, Tenn.
Dobyns-Bennett High School

PATRICK ON RAMSDALE: "Jackie came in this summer to work out with the team, so she's going to have a nice strength base. She worked hard and we feel that even though she's going to have a little less experience than our other middles, we think she's going to catch up to them very quickly. She's a tall player who already is a pretty good blocker and can physically match up with most hitters. We're excited to see her development in her first year here."

2004 SEASON IN REVIEW
"COMMITMENT"

When the NCAA volleyball season got underway in late August, 312 Division I teams commenced their campaigns. Once Tennessee's historic campaign finally came to an end, 296 had already gone home and the Lady Vols had shown that their "Commitment" on the court and in the weight room had paid off as they were among the final 16 teams still playing.

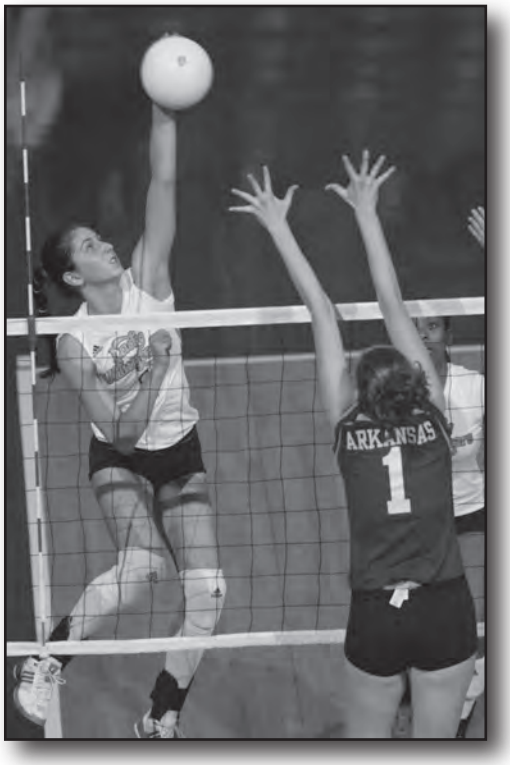
The Big Orange tallied a number of accomplishments last season, highlighted by its 32-3 record and .914 winning percentage, the highest in school history and third best among NCAA Division I teams in 2004. The Orange and White also smashed the previous school record of conference victories, 10 by the 2003 squad, in its 15-1 Southeastern Conference campaign. The .938 conference winning percentage set a new school mark as well.

The Big Orange won two NCAA Tournament matches for the first time in program history and advanced to the regional semifinals for the fourth time in school annals. The 1982-84 squads made the Sweet 16 with one victory in the smaller brackets in use at the time.

Tennessee burst onto the national volleyball scene with a pair of road victories over perennial national power Florida in an eight-day span. The Lady Vols ended a trio of astounding Gator winning streaks with a 3-2 victory in the final match of the SEC season on Nov. 14, which also earned UT an SEC regular season co-championship, its first in school history. Florida brought in a 145-match regular season SEC winning streak and a 121-match overall SEC winning streak (including SEC Tournament matches), both NCAA records.

A week later, the Lady Vols secured their first SEC Tournament title in 20 years with a 3-2 victory over the Gators. Tennessee previously claimed the 1981, 1982 and 1984 titles. After Florida had won 109 straight at home against SEC opponents since a 15-7, 15-9, 15-11 loss to LSU on Sept. 30, 1990, the Gators fell twice at the O'Connell Center in an eight-day span.

The Lady Vols entered the 2004 campaign with a total of two wins over top-10 opposition in school history, compiling an all-time 2-53 mark. That trend came to an abrupt end in 2004 as the Big Orange rebounded from a 3-1 home setback to then-No. 8 UF on Oct. 22 to then defeat the Gators twice, ranked No. 7 and 10 as of the dates of UT's historic wins.



An AVCA All-South Region Freshman of the Year, Yuliya Stoyanova had a spectacular rookie campaign for the Big Orange.

Against ranked opposition, the Orange and White went 6-2, increasing its win total in school history by 67 percent. Coming into 2004, the Lady Vols had lost 97 of their last 100 matches versus ranked teams over the past 22 years and had just a 9-100 all-time record.

At the completion of the season, Tennessee was itself rewarded with top-10 accolades, finishing 10th in the final USA Today/CSTV Top 25 Coaches Poll after reaching a program-high ninth in the previous set of rankings. The Orange and White was ranked for the last 14 weeks of the campaign. Prior to 2004, the Lady Vols had not broken into the poll since 1985.

Amy Morris performed for the Lady Vols in significant numbers, both offensively and defensively, by recording 3.19 kills/game and 3.69 digs/game. Her 435 total digs were the second most in Tennessee history.

The season ironically began with a lackluster game one loss to Villanova (the Wildcats would finish 2004 with a 9-18 mark); UT trailed by an 11-4 score early in the season's initial game before rebounding to defeat the Wildcats, 25-30, 30-26, 30-26, 30-24. The game would be the only one at the LMU Four Points Sheraton Volleyball Classic that Villanova would win or that UT ended up losing as the Lady Vols followed the win by claiming the tournament title with sweeps over Duke, 30-27, 31-29, 30-28, and No. 18 Loyola Marymount, 30-24, 30-19, 30-22.

Junior middle blocker Kristen Andre earned tournament MVP honors after hitting .473 with 4.3 kills/game and 1.0 blocks/game. A few days later, she would attain even higher accolades for her performances, receiving recognition as the Sports Imports/AVCA National Player of the Week. She was also selected as SEC and Lady Vol Athlete of the Week.

Tennessee added to its tournament crowns with a title at the Domino's Pizza Lady Vol Classic the following weekend, sweeping Wake Forest, 30-21, 30-24, 30-15, and Tennessee-Martin, 30-19, 30-21, 30-19, before topping its second ranked opponent in as many weeks in No. 24 Purdue, 28-30, 30-23, 30-24, 30-23.

Freshman outside hitter Yuliya Stoyanova earned tournament MVP honors after contributing 3.7 kills/game, a .394 hitting percentage and 1.2 blocks/game. In the final match of the tourney, sophomore middle blocker Sarah Blum tied the school standard and set a Stokely Athletics Center record with 14 blocks.

Following a mid-week 30-14, 30-18, 30-18 victory over Lipscomb, which gave UT its best start since 1986 at 7-0, the Big Orange headed to Ann Arbor, Mich., for the Michigan/Nike Invitational with its first national ranking in 19 years (22nd). Victories over Western Michigan (30-19, 33-35, 30-25, 30-15) and Virginia Tech (30-18, 30-21, 33-31) set up a dramatic championship match with the host Wolverines (8-1). UM would give Tennessee its first setback of the season, however, with a 30-27, 19-30, 30-23, 30-20 win.

Four days later, the Orange and White rebounded nicely and delighted its home fans with a 28-30, 30-27, 30-26, 30-27 win versus No. 15 Louisville. Neither team would be able to garner greater than a five-point lead at any point in the tightly-contested match. UT last topped an opponent ranked as high as the Cardinals on Sept. 17, 1983, in a 2-15, 15-11, 15-10, 15-9 victory over No. 9 Arizona State.

With a solid non-conference slate behind them, the Lady Vols entered SEC play like a steamroller, sweeping their first six opponents and winning their initial eight contests. Leading off league play, the Orange and White welcomed to Knoxville, and easily dispatched, Ole Miss (30-20, 30-23, 30-20) and Mississippi State (30-23, 30-23, 30-24). Tennessee's 12-1 record at this time marked its fastest start since the 1973 squad went 20-0.

For her outstanding play in the week's three matches, Andre earned SEC Defensive Player of the Week honors. Not only did the Kelseyville, Calif., native compile nine digs (0.9/game) and 12 blocks (1.2/game), but she also hit .412 with 4.8 kills/game.

A road sweep of South Carolina (30-23, 31-29, 30-14), a dominating home win over Kentucky (30-13, 30-19, 30-18) and a pair of road victories against Mississippi State (30-20, 30-21, 30-24) and Ole Miss (30-27, 30-19, 30-24) moved UT to 6-0 in SEC play and 16-1 overall. The commanding win over UK marked the first time that Tennessee had kept an SEC opponent below 20 points in each game of a match since rally scoring came into effect in 2001. It was only the second time overall, following UT's domination of Lipscomb earlier in 2004.

Dating to 2003, the Orange and White brought a 25-game SEC winning streak into its contest at Auburn, but fell in the first game of a 27-30, 30-19, 30-21, 30-16 victory over the Tigers. In all matches, Tennessee won 21 straight games, its longest run since the 1973 squad ran off 34 to begin its season. Following the win at Auburn, the Lady Vols completed their trip through the Yellowhammer State with a 30-26, 30-25, 21-30, 31-29 win versus Alabama.

In the victories over the Tigers and Crimson Tide, junior outside hitter Amy Morris earned SEC Defensive Player and Lady Vol Athlete of the Week honors, tallying 4.12 digs and 2.62 kills/game for the week.

The Big Orange was now 8-0 in SEC play (18-1 overall) and, dating back to 2003, had won 10 straight regular-season conference matches, its longest such streak in school history.

That set up the Stokely Showdown as eighth-ranked Florida (16-2, 8-0 SEC) ventured into Knoxville to take on the No. 17 Lady Vols. The Gators brought a 138-match SEC regular-season winning streak into the match, an NCAA record for longest conference winning streak, and had not fallen in a league match in 10 years.

Florida, however, would not let the string of wins end on this night, defeating Tennessee, 26-30, 34-32, 30-19, 30-21, in a raucous atmosphere and in front of a Stokely Athletics Center-record crowd of 1,337.

Tennessee did not show any ill effects from the emotional setback, rebounding to easily dispatch Georgia, a 2004 NCAA Tournament team, just two days later in straight games by 30-19, 30-24, 30-24 scores. UT earned its 20th win of the campaign with a 28-30, 30-26, 30-23, 30-24 victory versus South Carolina and followed that by winning its school-record 11th conference match with a 30-25, 30-24, 31-29 decision over Kentucky.

In the pair of victories against the Gamecocks and UK, libero Cynthia Buggs tallied 37 digs (5.3 digs/game) with 20 versus South Carolina and 17 against Kentucky. Both totals set the pace in each contest for the Lady Vols and earned the sophomore SEC Defensive Player of the Week accolades.

After stepping out of conference and heading to the mountains to defeat eventual Southern Conference co-regular season champion Appalachian State by 30-27, 30-26, 28-30, 30-23 scores, the Big Orange ran into a buzz saw in Arkansas, but rebounded from a blowout loss in game one to earn a 15-30, 30-22, 30-28, 30-24 win. A subsequent victory over LSU, 30-22, 30-12, 30-26, moved Tennessee to 13-1 in SEC play heading into its final two conference matches. The 18-point margin of victory in game two versus the Tigers was the largest in an SEC match in Big Orange history.

Blum earned SEC Defensive Player of the Week accolades for her performances in the three matches as she registered 1.6 blocks/game.

UT would take care of Georgia, 30-20, 35-33, 30-18, on the road to set up another showdown with Florida. The Gators entered the final league match with a perfect 15-0 mark, while the Orange and White was right behind at 14-1.

History would be made on Nov. 14.

The Lady Vols sent shockwaves through the volleyball world and ripples through the general sports world big enough to reach the front page of USA Today's sports section with a historic 30-21, 23-30, 25-30, 31-29, 15-12 win over the Gators, ending UF's NCAA-record 145-match conference winning streak. The win also brought to an end two other amazing SEC streaks: a 121-match overall (including SEC Tournaments) streak dating to 1997 and a 109-match home winning streak.

The win gave UT a co-regular season championship, its first in school history. It also marked the Big Orange's first win over a top-10 team (Florida entered ranked seventh) since that victory over Arizona State in 1983 and only the third in school history, a span of 44 consecutive setbacks against elite teams.

Florida would not go quietly, however, mounting a furious rally in the fourth game. The Gators trailed, 26-19, but responded to tie the game at 27. After Florida came back from a 29-28 deficit to tie the contest, 29-29, the Gators were just two points away from continuing their streak and winning the regular-season title outright. A kill from senior outside hitter Michelle Piantadosi and a block executed by Piantadosi and Blum won the game for the Lady Vols and forced the first fifth and deciding game in an SEC contest at the O'Connell Center since UF's 15-13, 6-15, 17-15, 6-15, 15-8 win over LSU on Oct. 4, 1991.

The fifth game started with both teams not giving an inch as neither could grab greater than a single-point lead until the Gators snared an 8-6 advantage. After UF took a 9-7 lead, Tennessee roared back with the next six tallies. Blum had four blocks and a kill in the run that gave the Big Orange a commanding 13-9 lead. The 15th and winning score was placed on the board with a kill from Stoyanova.

In the contest, Piantadosi recorded a career-high 26 kills, Morris had 31 digs, the fourth-highest total in UT annals, and junior setter Julie Knytych tallied a career-tying 68 assists.

Piantadosi earned SEC and Lady Vol Athlete of the Week accolades for her week. She hit .333 (39-8-93), compiling her UT-leading 26 kills in Gainesville along with 13 versus

At the same instant, the Lady Vols not only earned their first Southeastern Conference regular-season championship in school history but also ended Florida's NCAA-record 145-match conference winning streak.

Georgia, tying for the team lead in that contest.

A pair of victories in the SEC Tournament (30-21, 30-23, 23-30, 30-23 over Auburn and 23-30, 30-22, 30-23, 30-21 over Arkansas) set up another showdown with the Gators exactly a week later, again at the O'Connell Center. Once again, the contest would go five games and, as before, Tennessee came out victorious.

The Lady Vols earned their first tournament title in 20 years with an 18-30, 30-27, 30-27, 17-30, 15-5 win. Even though Tennessee won its first two games by only three points each and was defeated by more than 10 in its pair of game losses, the Lady Vols left no doubt in the fifth game. Knytych had a kill, assist and block in the first four rallies, as the Big Orange took immediate control with a 4-0 lead, and a 5-0 run increased the advantage from 8-4 to 13-4 and put the contest away.

Morris earned MVP honors for the tournament, tallying 4.3 digs/game and 2.7 kills/game. Also contributing significantly to the tournament title was Knytych, as she was named to the all-tournament team. The junior demonstrated her skills by compiling 147 assists (11.3/game) in the three wins.

The Big Orange, now ranked in the top 10 for the first time ever, prepared for NCAA play with a 30-23, 30-25, 30-25 win over Thanksgiving weekend against the Pittsburgh Panthers, a team that finished second in the Big East Conference and would be selected to the NCAA Tournament as well. The win was UT's 30th of the season, as the 2004 squad became the first team to reach that mark at Rocky Top since the 1983 squad went 31-10.

Armed with a 12th national seed and home-court advantage for the first two rounds of the NCAA Tournament, the Lady Vols started play with a 30-24, 30-16, 30-22 dispatching of Eastern Kentucky in the first round. The victory over the Colonels was the first for Tennessee in tournament play since a 15-12, 15-5, 6-15, 15-9 win against Sam Houston State in 1993. The win also gave Tennessee 13 victories in a row, the longest such streak at Rocky Top since the 1980 squad won 22 straight.

A win over Texas A&M (30-21, 24-30, 30-23, 32-30), ranked 18th in the final regular-season poll, gave UT two wins in the same NCAA Tournament for the first time in school history and propelled Tennessee into the regional semifinals for the initial time since reaching that round for three consecutive years from 1982-84.

Down 30-29 in the fourth game and just one point from being forced to play a deciding fifth game, Piantadosi recorded a kill and an Aggie attack error suddenly put UT one point away from moving on. On the ensuing rally, an Aggie tip attempt cleared the net, but the ball landed a couple of feet wide of the court, five feet from the net, setting off a spirited celebration for the Lady Vols and their fans.

In chilly Minneapolis, Minn., the season would finally come to an end in the NCAA regional semifinals as Tennessee fell in an intense 29-31, 27-30, 30-16, 30-26, 15-12 decision to fifth-seeded and seventh-ranked Ohio State.

Senior outside hitter Whitney Gifford (York, Pa. / Dallastown H.S.) ended the Big Orange's game one victory with consecutive service aces. She hadn't played in the match until she subbed in and went to the service line with the score tied, 29-29. Kills by Piantadosi and Knytych scored the final two points of the second game for the Lady Vols.

The fifth and deciding game came down to the wire, as Tennessee rallied from a 10-6 deficit to tie the game at 10 and at 11. Tennessee trailed by just one late, 13-12, but Ohio State scored the final two points to put the contest away.

In addition to their first SEC regular-season trophy in school history, the initial Eastern Division title (also shared with Florida) since the SEC divided into divisions in 1995 and first SEC Tournament championship since 1984, the Lady Vols saw numerous individuals win awards.

Knytych earned third team AVCA All-American and first team All-SEC honors for her extraordinary season, which saw the LaGrange Park, Ill., native compile 1,709 assists, not only a new school standard but also the third-highest total in SEC history, just 36 off the record of 1,745 compiled by UF's Jennifer Sanchez in 1998.

Morris was named the SEC Defensive Player of the Year and was selected as an honorable mention All-American to go along with SEC Tournament MVP, Lady Vol Athlete of the Week and edamerica Lady Vol Athlete of the Month accolades. She compiled 435 digs on the season, the second-highest total in UT history. The sum trailed only Stephanie Ehlers' 1988 campaign (445).

Julie Knytych had 1,709 assists in 2004, not only setting a school record but also recording the third-highest total in SEC history.

Piantadosi, who completed her Lady Vol career with a bang by tying her career high of 26 kills in two big late-season matches, the 3-2 loss to Ohio State in the NCAA regional semifinals and UT's historic 3-2 victory at Florida on Nov. 14. She was named to the second team All-SEC and received honorable mention All-American honors.

Andre also found a spot as an honorable mention All-American, along with being named to the first team All-SEC for her outstanding season. She had a spectacular September, earning edamerica Lady Vol Athlete of the Month honors, hitting .414 and recording 4.07 kills/game and 1.02 blocks/game. She also had 11 service aces in the month, the second-highest total recorded by a Lady Vol.

Stoyanova made an immediate impact for Tennessee, earning All-South Region Freshman of the Year honors to go with second team All-SEC and SEC All-Freshman Team accolades.

The senior class of Gifford and Piantadosi compiled a .726 winning percentage with a 90-34 mark in their four seasons at Rocky Top, the highest winning percentage for a four-year class in school history. The previous record holder was the 1979-82 class, which recorded a .709 winning percentage with a 139-57 mark.

For his accomplishments in leading the Lady Vols to their best record in school history, head coach Rob Patrick earned CVU.com National Coach of the Year honors to go with SEC and AVCA South Region Coach of the Year accolades.

As a team, the Lady Vols set school records in kills/game (16.94), assists/game (15.33) and digs/game (17.03). The season totals of 2,117 kills placed third in history, impressive considering this year's team played 35 matches, while the 1980 (2,296 kills) and 1981 (2,177) squads played 56 contests each. The total assists (1,916) and digs (2,129) set school standards as well.

The team hit higher than .300 in a game on 15 occasions and held opponents to a .000 or lower hitting percentage eight times.

The numerous memories of the 2004 season and the "Commitment" shown by the players to raise the Tennessee volleyball program to elite status will be remembered by players, coaches, administrators and fans for years to come.

TEAM AWARDS

The University of Tennessee volleyball team announced its team award winners for its record-breaking 2004 season at the team banquet in February. Senior outside hitter Michelle Piantadosi earned both the Most Inspirational and Coaches' Award, while freshman defensive specialist Lauren LaFlamme won Most Improved accolades.

Both the Most Inspirational and Most Improved honors are voted on by the players, while the Coaches' Award is decided upon by the coaching staff. Piantadosi and LaFlamme helped UT earn the highest winning percentage in school history, .914, a 32-3 mark, an SEC co-regular season championship, its first in school history, an SEC tournament title, the first won by a UT squad in 20 years, and two wins in the NCAA Tournament for the first time in school annals, earning advancement to the NCAA Sweet 16.

Piantadosi ended her Lady Vol career on a high note, smashing career-high totals of 26 kills in arguably UT's two biggest matches of the season. The first came in Tennessee's historic 3-2 victory at Florida on Nov. 14. That victory in the final regular-season SEC match of the season not only ended UF's NCAA-record 145-match regular-season conference winning streak dating to 1994, but earned Tennessee an SEC co-regular season championship as the Gators and Lady Vols each went 15-1 in SEC play, including 1-1 against each other.

The Florida native then recorded 26 kills in her final match as a Lady Vol in UT's tough-fought 3-2 loss to Ohio State in the NCAA regional semifinals.

Throughout the season as a redshirt, LaFlamme showed marked improvement on the practice court and helped the Lady Vols increase their on-court ability as a team. Her hard work and improvement throughout the season helped push the Lady Vols to heights unreached in school history.

ON THE ROAD WITH THE LADY VOLS

The Women's Athletic Department at the University of Tennessee has never shied away from the best competition in the nation, and at times in other nations. Collectively, UT squads have competed in 46 states and several countries. The Lady Vol volleyball team already has made that same commitment and will continue to add to its list of match sites across the United States, currently at 34 states.

THE SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE

"THE STANDARD FOR EXCELLENCE"

The Southeastern Conference, with its storied 73-year history of athletic achievements and academic excellence, has built perhaps the greatest tradition of intercollegiate competition of any league in the country since its inception in 1933.

The 2004-05 academic year was another season to remember for the SEC, as conference teams captured seven national titles and posted eight national runner-up finishes. Since 1990, the SEC has won 107 national team championships for an average of more than six per year.

Auburn and Georgia won the conference's first two NCAA titles of the year, in men's and women's swimming & diving, respectively. Arkansas won both the men's indoor track & field and men's outdoor track & field championships. Tennessee won the women's indoor track & field title and Georgia also won NCAA titles in women's gymnastics and men's golf. Florida finished first among Southeastern Conference schools and sixth overall in the Sports Acacemy Director's Cup final standings.

Overall, the SEC finished in the top two in 10 of its 20 sponsored sports and in the top five in 16 of the 20 sports. Six SEC teams participated in football postseason bowls with Auburn posting an undefeated season and a victory in the Sugar Bowl. Five men's and five women's basketball teams were invited to the NCAA Tournament, with LSU and Tennessee advancing to the Women's Final Four. An NCAA record-tying nine teams advanced to postseason play in baseball, with two teams (Florida and Tennessee) advancing to the College World Series. With 160 teams, an average of eight per sport, advancing to NCAA postseason competition, the SEC continued to solidify its place as the nation's premier conference.

In addition to the seven team championships, 72 SEC student-athletes garnered individual national championships, while 554 individuals were awarded with first-team All-America honors. Student-athletes around the league continued to excel in the classroom as well with 2,052 earning recognition on the SEC Academic Honor Roll.

On the national all-sport level, the SEC placed nine teams in the top 50 of the Sports Academy Director's Cup rankings. Florida led the league with a sixth-place finish. Georgia placed seventh, while Tennessee was eighth, Auburn finished 17th, LSU 23rd, Arkansas 32nd, South Carolina 34th, Kentucky 35th and Alabama 38th to round out the league's top 50 finishes. All 12 SEC schools finished in the top 100 of the standings. Mississippi State (64), Ole Miss (67) and Vanderbilt (71) also made the top 100.

VOLLEYBALL IN THE SEC

Year after year, the Southeastern Conference shows why it is considered to be one of the premier volleyball conferences in the nation.

In the decade of the 1990s, the SEC made stellar contributions in volleyball. The conference has sent at least two SEC teams to the NCAA Tournament in every season the past 15 years. The SEC has had a team reach the Final Four seven of the 10 seasons in the '90s with the league having a team advance to the regional final nine of those 10 seasons.

In 2004, Tennessee captured its fourth-ever SEC Tournament Championships and made its seventh NCAA Tournament appearance, advancing to the regional semifinals for the first time since 1984. Florida made its SEC-leading 14th trip to the NCAA Tournament, falling to eventual national champion Stanford in the second round of tournament play. Georgia earned a bid into the tournament for the eighth time in school history, while Arkansas also qualified for a spot in the NCAA Tournament field.

Since the inaugural SEC volleyball championship in 1979-80, many changes have occurred in the conference with volleyball. The addition of Arkansas and South Carolina to the league in 1991 brought the divisional format to the sport with five teams competing in the Eastern Division and six teams in the Western Division. The most recent change came in 1999 as the tournament format began to feature only eight teams participating in a three-day conference tournament.

Along with the popularity growth throughout the country, women's volleyball has also grown in the SEC. A benchmark in that growth came in 1995 when SEC volleyball was first broadcasted on SEC-TV (FOX Sports Net South, FOX Sports Net Southwest and Sunshine Network) on a tape-delay basis. For the past nine seasons the coverage has grown, especially in the past four years, to live telecasts of several regular season matches and the SEC Tournament championship match. SEC volleyball will continue to enjoy the live coverage on SEC-TV to almost 22 million subscribers in the conference's nine-state region.

Through the years, the members of the Lady Vol volleyball teams have earned numerous honors both on the court and in the classroom. Since 1976, 74 current or former Lady Vols have been honored 228 times with such distinctions as All-SEC, Academic All-SEC, Academic All-District, All-American, Academic All-American, or have been members on teams at the National Sports Festival, World University Games, Pan American Games and Olympic Games. Among the most decorated Lady Vols was Beverly Robinson, who played at UT in 1982 and 1983. In total, Robinson was recognized 15 times for her exploits. She is also the only Lady Vol volleyball player to have her number 5 retired.

HISTORY OF THE LADY VOLS IN THE NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Tennessee has appeared in national championship play in each of the last four decades dating back to 1973, when Kaye Hart's Lady Vol squad posted a 38-6 mark for the season and ended up reaching what was then the AIAW national championship tournament. In pool play, the team downed Cincinnati and Illinois-Chicago, while falling to Oregon, Houston and Long Beach State to finish 15th in the nation.

In 1981, Tennessee returned to the national scene for the first of four straight appearances in the NCAA Championships. Bob Bertucci's team finished the season at 34-22 after a three-game loss to Purdue in West Lafayette, Ind.

The next year, UT went 31-7 and registered its first-ever victory at the NCAA Championships, downing Northwestern in a thrilling five-set match. The Lady Vols then returned to West Lafayette for Mideast Regional action and were ousted by eventual NCAA runner-up Southern Cal.

The 1983 season saw Tennessee post its third straight 30-win season with an overall record of 31-10. Battling the odds, the Lady Vols traveled to Tallahassee, Fla., for their first-round match against Florida State, dropped the first two games, and still emerged with a five-game victory. This time, UT was placed in the South Regional and journeyed to Austin, Texas, where eventual national champion Hawaii eliminated the Lady Vols in three games.

The final season of Tennessee's four straight NCAA appearances, 1984, featured a 25-11 slate and another first-round triumph. The Lady Vols hosted Eastern Kentucky and won in three straight games before travelling to Austin for the second year in a row. Again, that destination proved to be the end of the road for Tennessee as Texas pinned a four-game loss on the Lady Vols.

Nine years later, in 1993, Julie Hermann became the third coach to lead the Lady Vols to a national tournament when she brought Tennessee back to the NCAA Championships, as UT ended up with an overall record of 18-13. The field had been expanded from 32 to 48 teams, and Tennessee hosted first-round action against Sam Houston State, posting a four-game victory. The Lady Vols then met up with a familiar foe, SEC rival Georgia, in second-round action at Athens. Tennessee just missed out on an appearance in the "Sweet 16," dropping a four-game decision to the Lady Bulldogs.

The tournament field was again expanded in 1999, this time to 64 schools. From his experience as a part of two national championship teams at Stanford, Head Coach Rob Patrick used his post-season know-how to navigate the 2000 squad to the Lady Vols' first NCAA appearance in seven years, just four seasons after taking the reins of the program. Patrick's troops ventured to University Park, Pa., for a first-round match-up with the Washington State Cougars in the Pacific Region. UT's young squad dropped a three-game match to WSU on Dec. 1.

The 2004 Lady Vols made a return to the tournament and won two matches in any one tourney for the first time in Rocky Top history. Stokely Athletics Center welcomed in Eastern Kentucky, Texas A&M and Winthrop for its initial hosting of NCAA play. The Lady Vols swept EKU and topped the Aggies in four games to move on to the regional semifinals and a date with Ohio State. After the Orange and White claimed the first two games, the Buckeyes outscored the Big Orange the next three, including tight 30-26 and 15-12 results in the final two games, to finally put one of Tennessee's best seasons in school history to an end.

WELCOME TO KNOXVILLE!

A scenic city in the heart of Tennessee's Resource Valley, Knoxville was recently ranked the "best place to live in the United States and Canada" among cities with a population of fewer than one million. The ranking came from the Millennium edition of "Places Rated Almanac" published by IDG Books Worldwide. The results confirmed what most in this area have known for a long time - Knoxville is the best small city in the country.

A year-round destination for travelers because of its charm, hospitality and moderate climate, Knoxville is surrounded by three national parks, one of which is the magnificent Great Smoky Mountains, the most visited national park in the nation. Also located nearby are Cumberland Gap National Historic Park and Big South Fork National River and Recreation Area. Seven shimmering Tennessee Valley Authority lakes encircle the Knoxville area and provide accessible sports and recreational opportunities.

When Tennessee became a state on June 1, 1796, Knoxville was distinguished as its first capital. The capital has since moved to Nashville, but the Blount Mansion and James White's Fort still stand as gentle reminders of Knoxville's historic past. The Old City also garners visions of days gone by, as the former center for commerce in the Southeast now thrives with restaurants, boutiques, coffee houses, galleries and nightclubs.

The city of Knoxville has grown into a cosmopolitan area with numerous attractions and more than 500 restaurants. It serves as the headquarters to the TVA, the nation's largest public utility, and is home to the main campus of the University of Tennessee. With the world-famous Oak Ridge National Laboratory nearby, one of the nation's leading energy research facilities, the region is known as a technology corridor of the Southeast.

Knoxville is a regular stop for concerts, featuring performances to suit all tastes, from opera and symphony to rock and country. Making stops in recent years have been musical artists such as Kenny Chesney, Kelly Clarkson, Dave Matthews Band, The Dixie Chicks, Bob Dylan, the Eagles, Faith Hill, Janet Jackson, Elton John, Jack Johnson, Kid Rock, Ludacris, Lynyrd Skynyrd, Matchbox Twenty, Tim McGraw, The Mötley Crüe, N'Sync, Nickelback, Pearl Jam, Red Hot Chili Peppers, Britney Spears, 3 Doors Down, and Widespread Panic, and performers such as David Copperfield, Gallagher and Jerry Seinfeld. The city is also a regular stop for major Broadway productions and the Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey Circus and is an occasional host for NBA, NFL, NHL and WNBA exhibition contests.

Due to Knoxville's convenient location, you can easily spend a day in the mountains or raft a whitewater river and still enjoy an evening on the town. There is something for everybody in Knoxville – where nature and technology meet!

LOCATION & TRAVEL

Knoxville is located in the geographical center of the eastern United States and is within a day's drive of half of the nation's population. Knox County is situated at the crossroads of three major interstates, I-75, I-40 and I-81.

Knoxville's McGhee Tyson Airport, which recently completed a $58 million project including the renovation of the terminal and the construction of a new concourse system, lies 12 miles from the downtown area. Passengers using the airport can choose from nearly 100 flights per day. The facility is served by several major and regional carriers, including American, American Eagle, Comair, Continental Express, Delta, Independence Air, Northwest, Northwest Airlink, United, United Express and US Airways Express.

THE UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE

Founded as Blount College in 1794, the University of Tennessee became the state's first public university and its comprehensive land-grant research institution in 1879. Tennessee's only public Carnegie Doctoral/Research-Extensive University, UT ranks among U.S. News and World Report's Top 50 Public Universities in the country.

The University's colleges and schools offer more than 400 degree programs to its 25,627 students, who come from every county in Tennessee, every state in the nation and more than 100 foreign countries. The 550-acre Knoxville campus is home to several nationally-ranked programs of study, including advertising, architecture, business, engineering, law and nursing. Undergraduate students will find that approximately 71 percent of their classes have an enrollment of 30 students or fewer.

Faculty members, who number more than 1,400, effectively blend teaching, research, and service in educating students. The faculty and staff of UT work constantly to enhance the quality of students' educational experiences, using information from student tests and surveys to improve teaching and student services. Graduate education is enhanced by expanded cooperation with Oak Ridge National Laboratory (ORNL) and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The campus has numerous Centers of Excellence, including hazardous waste management, materials processing, veterinary medicine and the Science Alliance. The Alliance, the largest of Tennessee's Centers of Excellence, boasts a Distinguished Scientist Program that attracts eminent scientists to joint appointments at UT and ORNL and strengthens cooperative instructional and research programs between the two.

Additionally, the University of Tennessee has 65 endowed professorships and chairs, including 16 Chairs of Excellence. The Chairs of Excellence are cooperatively funded by the state and the University and filled by nationally known teacher/scholars.

The John C. Hodges Library, the largest in the state of Tennessee and one of the largest in the Southeast, houses nearly three million books and periodicals as well as study carrels, a 24-hour study lounge and the largest computer lab (60 work stations) on campus. Additional labs are located around the campus. UT's extensive network has equipped every residence hall room with Internet, e-mail, and UT system access.

Former University of Connecticut provost and executive vice president Dr. John Petersen became the 23rd leader in the history of the institution after an exhaustive national search. Dr. Loren Crabtree became chancellor and vice president for academic affairs for the University on July 1, 2003. Dr. Todd A. Diacon assumed the role of the NCAA faculty athletics representative for UT in 2004.

The University of Tennessee College of Law has been a part of the UT campus since 1890 and is consistently recognized as one of the top-50 law schools in the country by U.S. News and World Report.

The John C. Hodges Library houses nearly 3 million volumes and subscribes to thousands of periodicals and online databases. The library also features computer access for students as well as group and individual study areas.

ON-TARGET ACADEMICS—YOUR GATEWAY TO THE REAL WORLD

As Tennessee's comprehensive public research institution, UT offers students solid academic preparation for almost any career or profession they may choose to enter. Because UT is the state's land-grant research institution, professors frequently form research partnerships with leading U.S. corporations and governmental agencies. A primary result of the faculty's experiences on the frontline of technology is that UT students receive the most up-to-date, relevant instruction they can get – knowledge that applies to real-world jobs and careers after college.

The University's undergraduate colleges concentrate students' coursework into different subject or interest areas:

HISTORY OF LADY VOL ATHLETICS

Though female athletes have competed at UT since 1903, they have been managed by a separate administration only since 1976. During the past 29 years, athletics for women at Tennessee have enjoyed an enormous amount of growth and success. The department has been a model for other women's programs across the country because of its competitive teams, outstanding facilities, quality staff members and excellent graduation rates among student-athletes.

Intercollegiate athletics for women officially began during the 1976-77 academic year when then-athletics director Gloria Ray headed the move to divide the responsibility and decision-making powers of the athletic teams along gender lines. The UT women's department had nine intercollegiate sports at that time, including basketball, cross country, field hockey, gymnastics, swimming and diving, tennis, indoor and outdoor track and field, and volleyball. Ray managed a staff of 17 people and oversaw a budget of $120,000 that serviced approximately 75 student-athletes in that inaugural year.

Despite the fact that field hockey and gymnastics are no longer a part of the department, growth in staff, budget and sports continually increased through the 1970s and into the 21st century. Under current athletics director Joan Cronan, nearly 85 staff members are on hand to support around 225 student-athletes. She directs a department that posts an operating budget of nearly $11 million.

With the passage of the Restoration Act of 1988, the original mandates of Title IX have been met at Tennessee with the annexation of four sports. Golf was the first added to UT's plate in 1992. Rowing and softball joined the family during the 1995-96 season, and soccer, the 11th women's intercollegiate sport at Tennessee, began play in the fall of 1996.

In 1999, Chamique Holdsclaw became the first female basketball player to win the prestigious AAU James E. Sullivan Award.

Basketball, under the direction of Head Coach Pat Summitt for 31 years, is the most visible program and undoubtedly has been the most successful one. Summitt's squads have participated in the Final Four 20 times in the past 29 seasons, winning national titles in 1987, 1989, 1991, 1996, 1997 and 1998. Playing in the on-campus Thompson-Boling Arena, UT set an NCAA regular-season single-game attendance mark of 24,597 in 1998 and has claimed the national average attendance crown the past eight seasons. Summitt has also coached 12 Olympians and 18 different Kodak All-Americans during her career at Tennessee, including standout Shyra Ely, who helped guide UT to its 16th Final Four appearance in 2005.

Track & field joins the basketball program as the only Lady Vol sports to claim national team championships. Under the direction of USTCA National Indoor Coach of the Year J.J. Clark, the 2005 squad raced to the NCAA title indoors and wound up fourth at the NCAA Outdoor meet after charting finishes of fourth and seventh, respectively, in 2004. The national crown, which was produced by a group of 10 athletes, came 24 years after Terry Crawford's 1981 unit, known as the "Ten That Made One," won the AIAW Outdoor title to give UT its first-ever national triumph by a women's team. Through the years, twenty-six track & field student-athletes have either won individual national titles or were members of winning relay squads at the national level, and 88 Lady Vols have earned a total of 356 All-America citations. Fourteen UT women have had the privilege of representing their countries at the Olympic Games, with the Big Orange's most recent entry, Dee Dee Trotter, winning gold with the U.S. 4x400-meter relay in 2004 and taking fifth in the 400 meters.

U.S. long jumper Tianna Madison, the 2005 Lady Vol Athlete of the Year, won NCAA and SEC indoor and outdoor titles and capped off her sophomore season by winning the first World Track & Field Championship ever by an active UT female athlete.

Swimming and diving almost became the third sport to claim a team title in 1989, when it finished fourth at the NCAA Championships. The aqua Lady Vols hold the distinction of producing 1992 NCAA Woman of the Year Catherine Byrne, who earned 14 All-America certificates during her tenure. Individually, diver Tracy Bonner became the first swimmer or diver to claim national gold, winning the three-meter diving competition in 1995. Swimmer Nicole deMan became the first swimmer to grace the victory stand, winning the 50-yard freestyle in 1996. During the past 26 years, 75 Lady Vols have earned a total of 358 All-America honors, including 1998 NCAA platform diving champion, Kathy Pesek, and 2000 platform runner-up, Lizzy Flynt. In 2004-05, Tiffany Clay, Jacque Fessel, Christine Magnuson, Megan Tomes and Julia Stowers achieved the feat for the Big Orange.

The 2005 indoor track and field team claimed the program's first ever NCAA title, the seventh NCAA crown by a Tennessee Lady Vols team overall.

The 1981 track and field team, the "Ten That Made One," captured the Lady Vols' first national championship.

Cross country has experienced four top-10 finishes at national championships meets, including a fourth-place showing in 1983. Nine Lady Vols have earned All-America distinction, including Kathy Bryant-Hadler, who posted three consecutive All-America seasons, and the most recent honoree, Sharon Dickie, during the 2000 campaign. In three seasons as head coach, J.J. Clark has piloted the Big Orange harriers to a combined won-lost record of 279-90-1 with three consecutive NCAA South Region titles, back-to-back SEC trophies in 2003 and 2004 and finishes of 28th, 24th and 21st, respectively, at the past three NCAA Championship meets. His 2004 squad charted a record of 121-25, which easily reflects the most wins in team annals.

Lady Vol swimmer Catherine Byrne received the NCAA Woman of the Year award in 1992.

Tennis is another sport that perennially ranks among the nation's elite with 16 top-20 finishes in the last 17 seasons. Under the direction of Co-Head Coaches Mike Patrick and Sonia Hahn-Patrick, the program has also advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16 in eight of the last nine years, including a trip to the Final Four in 2002. In addition, UT's individuals have experienced a wealth of success, as 12 Lady Vol tennis players have achieved All-America status. In 2003, Tennessee legend Vilmarie Castellvi finished as the top-ranked player in the nation and reached the NCAA Singles Championship match. For her efforts, Castellvi claimed the coveted Honda Sports Award for tennis.

Volleyball, meanwhile, is coming off

HISTORY OF LADY VOL ATHLETICS

its best performance in the program's history, winning two NCAA Tournament matches and advancing to the Sweet 16 in 2005 under the guidance of Head Coach Rob Patrick. Overall, the program has participated in seven NCAA Tournaments, including four in a row under Bob Bertucci from 1981 to 1984. Beverly Robinson was the anchor of the program at that time. A 1988 Olympian, Robinson was volleyball's lone All-America recipient prior to last season, when Kristen Andre, Julie Knytych, Amy Morris and Michelle Piantadosi all earned the accolade. The 2005 squad's appearance at the NCAA Tournament was the first Lady Vol squad to compete at the national championships since 2000.

Beverly Robinson, a 1982 All-America honoree, was an All-SEC selection from 1981-83 and was a member of the 1988 U.S. Olympic Team.

Golf, the first sport to fill the role of "new kid on the block," did so impressively. The linksters debuted by placing second in the SEC Tournament and just missed the NCAA Tournament cut by one position at regionals in 1993. The Lady Vols have been represented at NCAAs in eight of their 13 seasons, with two top-ten finishes under Head Coach Judi Pavon, highlighted by the 2000 squad placing fifth at nationals. One of Pavon's latest standouts, Violeta Retamoza, was named the SEC Player of the Year and received All-America distinction in 2003 and 2005 while Jessica Shepley earned honorable mention All-America status in 2004.

Young-A Yang, a four-time All-American from 1999-2002, is playing on the LPGA Tour.

The ninth and 10th women's sports at UT, rowing and softball, began their competitive experiences during the 1995-96 academic year. Both made great strides in their initial campaigns, highlighted by the softball team's 54-14 record and four NCAA team statistical titles. In 1997, Tennessee's Varsity 4+ advanced to the inaugural NCAA Rowing Championships and finished ninth, while the squad has sent its Varsity 8+ shell to the championships for three consecutive years starting in 2003, finishing a program-best eighth in 2005.

The rowing team finished a program-best eighth in 2005 after a third straight trip to the NCAA Championships.

Softball, meanwhile, saw its successes attained throughout the first nine seasons explode in the 10th as the Lady Vols advanced deep into the Women's College World Series in 2005, coming home with a third-place trophy. That placing was clinched with a dramatic 2-0 (11 inn.) win over top-ranked Michigan, UT's initial win over a No. 1 squad. Under Co-Head Coaches Ralph and Karen Weekly, the softball team won 67 contests, tied for the most in NCAA Division I history. The Lady Vols earned 51 shutouts to set a new Division I record, with sophomore Monica Abbott recording 34, the second-highest single-season NCAA total earned. The hurler also struck out 603 hitters, the second-most strikeouts in history. After the Salinas, Calif., native became the first Lady Vol to earn All-American accolades as a freshman, she was joined by three others as honorees in their sophomore seasons: Sarah Fekete, Kristi Durant and Lindsay Schutzler. A 2-2 mark at the 2004 NCAA Tournament set the stage for this year's breakthrough, while a foundation was set in 1999, the team's first regional appearance.

On their way to the program's first-ever Women's College World Series in 2005, four Lady Vols achieved All-America status with pitcher Monica Abbott and centerfielder Sarah Fekete garnering first-team honors.

Keeley Dowling, a four-year staple on defense for UT's soccer squad, is the only soccer three-time All-American in the program's history.

Soccer, Tennessee's 11th sport, made its debut in 1996-97 and continued the tradition set by the previous 10 intercollegiate programs by advancing to the eight-team SEC Tournament and finishing 10th in the nation in average home attendance in its inaugural season. The 2003 squad secured the SEC's "Triple Crown," Eastern Division, regular-season and tournament titles, and nearly duplicated the feat in 2004, falling in the SEC Tournament Title game. Overall, the program has advanced to three straight Sweet 16 appearances at the Women's College Cup.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS DIRECTOR

JOAN CRONAN

Triumphant collegiate programs are able to distinguish themselves from their counterparts because of superiority on the field of competition and within the classroom. Under the vision and direction of Women's Athletics Director Joan Cronan, a heavily-requested speaker on leadership and motivation on the national and local levels, the University of Tennessee Lady Vols have garnered a reputation as one of the most visible and respected programs throughout the nation. UT's successes in both the athletic and academic realms speak volumes to her decision-making and leadership ability, as demonstrated by her recent recognition by her peers at the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletics Administrators (NACWAA) with their 2005 Athletic Director of the Year award. In 2004, Cronan was honored by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) with their Southeast Region Athletic Director of the Year award.

Now in her 23rd year at Tennessee, Cronan's continued admiration by her peers and the community is well deserved because of her efforts in facilitating the operation of a first-class program, which captured the Southeastern Conference's Women's All-Sport Award from the New York Times for the second straight year. She strives not only to keep UT as one of the premier women's athletics departments in the nation, but also to improve women's athletics on a local, regional and national level.

Cronan joined UT from the College of Charleston in South Carolina, where she served as the athletics director for 10 years and was later inducted into that institution's hall of fame. Under Cronan's guidance, the school was selected as the No. 1 women's athletics program in the country in 1980 by the American Women's Sports Foundation.

Closer to home, Cronan is currently president of the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame, is active on the boards of First Tennessee Bank, Baptist Hospital and the YMCA, and has served as vice chair of the Leadership Knoxville board. She also works closely with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and Athletes in Action, having served as a board member for the local FCA chapter and as a national trustee. In 2003, Cronan was inducted into the FCA Hall of Champions. Additionally, she finds time to be a deacon at Central Baptist Church-Bearden.

In 1998, Cronan's work earned her accord from the Knoxville Sports Hall of Fame, as she was named its Administrator of the Year. Other honors include chairing the 1991 Knoxville area United Way Fund Drive, serving as president of the Executive Women's Association, receiving the 1994 Toastmaster's International Communication and Leadership Award and earning the 1994 AOPi Citizen of the Year Award. In March of 1987, the Women's Basketball Coaches Association honored her hard work, dedication and success by presenting her with its leadership award. She also won the 1995 regional award for the National Association of Collegiate Women's Athletic Administrators.

On the national scene, she has recently been elected as third vice president of NACDA and is president elect of NACWAA. Cronan has served on the NCAA's Executive Committee, Management Council, as well as the NCAA's Council, and is a member of the NCAA Championship Cabinet. She has also been a member of the Southeastern Conference Executive Committee.

As a former coach, Cronan served a two-year stint at Tennessee from 1968 to 1970. In 1969, she led the women's basketball team to an alternate berth in the first-ever National Invitational Collegiate Basketball Tournament. While at Charleston, she continued her success, not only as a basketball coach but in tennis as well. In 1981, she gave up coaching to devote her full-time attention to her duties as teacher and athletics director.

A graduate of LSU, Cronan earned her B.S. in 1966 and her M.S. in 1968, both in physical education. She was a fall 1995 inductee into LSU's Alumni Hall of Distinction. Currently an avid golfer and tennis player, Cronan was ranked as high as second in the South in doubles and is a former state and Southern doubles champion.

She and her husband, Tom, a professor emeritus of Health, Physical Education and Recreation at Carson-Newman College, make their home in Holston Hills. They have two daughters, Kristi (Mrs. Rhett Benner) and Stacey (Mrs. Kent Bristow), both 1994 graduates of UT, and three grandsons, Chase Thomas and Reed Kent Bristow, and Quinn Leighton Benner.

LADY VOLS AT THE TOP OF THE SEC

In what was another breakthrough campaign for the University of Tennessee Women's Athletics Department, the Lady Vols were announced as the 2005 Southeastern Conference women's all-sports winner by the New York Times Regional Newspaper Group. UT totaled 76.50 points for a 9.56 average (in eight sports), while Georgia had 85.50 points and a 9.50 average (in nine sports). Overall, the Lady Vols claimed league titles in cross country, indoor track & field, soccer and volleyball during the 2004-05 academic year. Additionally, basketball and volleyball also claimed SEC Tournament Championships. Remarkably, all 11 sports sponsored by the UT Women's Athletics Department advanced to their respective NCAA events.

"To win this championship for the second consecutive year is indeed an honor and extremely special since I believe the SEC is the best conference in America for women's athletics," Athletics Director Joan Cronan said. "Not only did we win four league titles, but we also captured two SEC Tournament Championships – a tremendous accomplishment.

"A lot of credit should go to the University of Tennessee for the outstanding support it provides for our department. We are also fortunate to have an outstanding group of student-athletes, as well as an excellent coaching staff regarded as among the best in the country. The administrators and support staff, within the Lady Vol program, who day-in and day-out provide the best services for the student-athletes and coaches, have played an integral role in our success," concluded Cronan.

The New York Times Regional Newspaper Group, which includes 14 newspapers throughout the Southeastern United States, awards trophies to the league school that captures each of the three all-sports titles. A first-place SEC finish is worth 12 points, second is given 11 points, and so on. A school's point total is divided by the number of sports it fields to arrive at the average. The New York Times Regional Newspaper Group took over coordination of the SEC All-Sports rankings in 1994-95. Prior to that, the league office tabulated the SEC All-Sports totals.

For the 14th consecutive year, the University of Florida collected the SEC overall all-sports title, finishing first in the men's standings and third in the women's. The Gators compiled 149 total points in 16 sports for a 9.31 average to edge Tennessee (9.03) for the overall title as the Lady Vols claimed the top spot for the women and the Vols placed second in the men's standings.

The 2004 volleyball squad claimed its first SEC regular-season title ever, first SEC tournament title since 1984, and head coach Rob Patrick was named the SEC Coach of the Year.

On the men's side, the Gators totaled 72 points for a 10.29 average, only the fourth time a men's program has finished with a 10.00 or better. UT finished second with 59 points and an 8.43 average, while LSU placed third with an average of 7.64.

En route to winning the 2005 NCAA Indoor Championship, the Lady Vols also stopped along the way to pick up an SEC trophy as well, claiming the indoor title for the first time since the inaugural meet back in 1984.

The Lady Vol basketball team captured the program's 11th SEC Tournament title in 2005.

Keeley Dowling helped lead the 2004 soccer team to a third straight SEC Eastern Division title.

Head Coach J.J. Clark was named SEC Women's Cross Country Coach of the Year for the fourth time in his career when his 2004 Tennessee squad won the program's second consecutive league championship trophy.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS STAFF

VELMA ALLEN
Accounting Assistant

Velma Allen is in her 24th year as a member of the Lady Vol staff, working closely with Women's Athletics Director Joan Cronan. Allen handles all of the support work for the budgeting of Tennessee's 11 distaff sports and the women's athletics department in general. She lives in Concord and enjoys attending Vol football games, both at home and on the road.

CHRIS BESANCENEY
Assistant Athletics Director for Ticket Operations

Chris Besanceney joined the UTAD staff in September 2004 as the Assistant Athletics Director for Tickets. He is responsible for directing all aspects of departmental ticket operations, including working closely with the marketing and development offices to promote sales and attendance, guaranteeing compliance with all state, university, NCAA and SEC regulations relating to the ticket office, and handling all postseason services and sales.

Besanceney served as the head athletics ticket manager for Michigan State University from 2000 until his appointment at UT in 2004. He was responsible for all ticketing, including postseason ticketing and donor seating for the Spartans.

Prior to that, he served as an assistant ticket manager at Michigan State and assistant ticket manager for the University of Missouri-Columbia Athletics Ticket Office.

Besanceney earned his bachelor's degree in 1998 from MSU, where he served four years as a football manager under coach George Perles.

ANGIE BOYD KECK
Assistant Athletics Director for Facilities and Operations

Angie Boyd Keck is in her 12th year as a full-time staff member at UT and was promoted in October 2000 to assistant athletics director for facilities and operations after serving as the coordinator of event management and facilities for the previous three years. Her primary responsibilities include supervision of the golf, rowing, and volleyball programs, event management for golf, rowing, track and field and volleyball, as well as staff job searches and business duties consisting of team travel and recruiting expenses.

She also oversees facility construction and renovation, and assists with day-to-day operations. These day-to-day operations include ordering and distributing letter awards for student-athletes and overseeing the All-Sports Banquet. She is also the tournament director for the Mercedes-Benz Women's Collegiate Golf Championships.

Boyd Keck got her start with UT during the 1994-95 season, when she was the assistant women's golf coach with the Lady Vols. Prior to her coaching stint, she was a member of the inaugural Lady Vol golf team in 1992. Boyd Keck captained the 1993-94 squad to a 13th-place NCAA finish in 1994. She was named to the Academic SEC Honor Roll in both her years as a player.

A 1994 graduate of Tennessee, Boyd Keck earned her bachelor's degree in public administration. In 1997, she received her master's in sport administration from UT. Boyd Keck and her husband, Kelly, reside in Dandridge with their son, Josh, and daughter, Sidney.

TIFFANY CARPENTER
Director of Public Relations

Tiffany Carpenter is in her second year as director of public relations for both the women's and men's athletics departments. Her primary responsibilities include developing and implementing public relations strategies for the department.

The Bristol native previously served as account supervisor for Atkinson Public Relations and as an account executive at the Ingram Group, both in Nashville. She has also assisted with the launch of the Nashville Predators and served as community and media relations advisor for the American Basketball League's Nashville Noise.

A 1996 graduate of Tennessee, Carpenter earned a bachelor's degree in public relations.

BRIAN DAVIS
Assistant Media Relations Director

Brian Davis rejoined the Lady Vols staff on a full-time basis in September 2004, after spending the previous year as an assistant media relations director at Vanderbilt University. With the Commodores, Davis handled the day-to-day media relations duties for the women's basketball and men's golf programs. He also assisted in the hosting of the 2004 SEC Women's Basketball Tournament in Nashville, Tenn., and traveled to Athens, Ga., as the media contact with the VU women's tennis team during its run to the NCAA Final Four.

AT UT, Davis is in charge of all publicity efforts for the nationally-ranked softball program. The Jackson, Tenn., native is familiar with the Tennessee program after serving for three seasons (2000-03) as a media relations graduate assistant and intern working with the six-time national champion Lady Vol basketball team. Davis earned a bachelor's degree in communications from Tennessee in 1997. He completed work on a master's degree in sport administration from UT in 2002.

JIMMY DELANEY
Marketing and Promotions Director

Jimmy Delaney is in his ninth year with the Lady Vols and his second as the marketing and promotions director after being promoted from interim director to his full-time position in May 2004. A native of Kenosha, Wis., Delaney spent two years as a graduate assistant in the Lady Volunteer Marketing Department while he earned his master's degree in sport administration. As an undergraduate, Delaney worked as a marketing and promotions student assistant while pursuing his bachelor's degree in sport administration.

Delaney's résumé includes working with his former high school marketing teacher, who developed a broad-based curriculum to aide in teaching the topic of sports marketing at the high school level. As the Lady Vol marketing and promotions director, Delaney is responsible for the development, implementation, execution and evaluation of promotional and marketing strategies for all aspects of the women's athletics department.

TODD DOOLEY
Assistant Athletics Director for Compliance and Operations

Todd Dooley is in his sixth year full-time and eighth overall with the University of Tennessee Women's Athletics Department. After serving as a graduate assistant for two years, he was promoted to full-time status in 2000. In August of 2002, he moved up the ladder again – this time to assistant athletics director for compliance and operations.

Dooley's duties include NCAA & SEC rule interpretations, camps and clinic oversight, housing, financial aid and event management. Additionally, his tasks include supervision of the Lady Vol soccer, softball and swimming & diving teams, and other various day-to-day departmental operations.

Prior to joining the administrative ranks, Dooley served as a manager for the Lady Vol basketball team for four years and earned a degree in history from Rocky Top in 1997. After graduating, he spent a year as an assistant coach for the women's basketball team at Maryville College before returning to his alma mater and earning a master's degree in sport administration in 2000.

CHRIS FULLER
Assistant Athletics Director for Sales and Marketing

Chris Fuller is in his second year as assistant athletics director for sales and marketing. He is responsible for cultivating corporate partner relationships, developing and implementing season ticket and group sales and developing marketing and promotional plans for men's and women's athletics.

Prior to Tennessee, Fuller served as a consultant for the Mid-American Conference, Bowling Green State University and Troy State University. Before that, he was vice president of collegiate marketing for the Cleveland Cavaliers.

Fuller previously served as director of business operations and university services for ACC Properties and was assistant sports marketing director at North Carolina. He graduated from Shepherd College in 1988 and earned his master's degree from West Virginia University in 1992.

DEBBY JENNINGS
Associate Athletics Director for Media Relations

Debby Jennings is in her 29th year at the helm of the media relations office as the first and only director of media relations for the University of Tennessee Lady Vols. Jennings has built the department into one of the nation's best, producing quality work while helping train aspiring students of the profession. She was promoted to associate athletics director for media relations in 1998.

Surrounding her silver anniversary year at UT, Jennings was honored by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) as a 2002 inductee into its Hall of Fame and a 2003 member of the CoSIDA Quarter Century Club. She became just the third female included in the prestigious group of sports information and media relations Hall of Famers. In celebration of these achievements, the University of Tennessee and the City of Knoxville celebrated "Debby Jennings Day" on Nov. 26, 2002, as the long-time media relations director was honored in pre-game ceremonies before the Lady Vol basketball team took to the court against George Washington University.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS STAFF

Jennings has accumulated more than 200 national publications awards, with more than half representing Best in the Nation distinction. Last year, the media relations department garnered 11 CoSIDA awards for its media publications.

She has been selected by the U.S. Olympic Committee numerous times to serve as a media relations coordinator at international events ranging from the 1984 and 1996 Summer Olympics to the 1987 Pan American Games and the 1983 and 1989 World University Games. Jennings also directed publicity and media relations for the 1990 NCAA Final Four hosted by UT. Recently, she concluded a two-year stint as the president of the Southeastern Conference sports information directors.

In addition to her media relations duties at UT, Jennings has been published. She co-authored Basketball with Lady Vol Basketball Coach Pat Summitt for the W.C. Brown, Co. Basketball is a textbook utilized on the collegiate level by basketball coaching classes. In November 1991, Lady Magic: The Nancy Lieberman-Cline Story, by Jennings and Lieberman-Cline, was published by Sagamore Publishing.

Jennings is an adjunct professor at UT, and she became the first-ever sports information director to receive the Mel Greenberg Award in 1995 for lifelong contributions to women's basketball. She earned a bachelor's in journalism in 1977 from the University of Tennessee.

Jennings spends her leisure time with her Miniature Schnauzers, Treyscha and Chissy.

BILL MYERS
Chief Financial Officer

Bill Myers holds the title of chief financial officer for the UT Men's and Women's Athletics Departments, a position he assumed in September 2003.

He reports directly to Athletics Directors Mike Hamilton and Joan Cronan, with oversight responsibilities in budgeting, coordination of accounting, financial and capital expenditures, management of cash flow and risk management. He also handles internal and external audits of financial information.

A native of Seymour, Tenn., Myers came to UT in July 1998, and subsequently served two years as assistant director of development. He managed the daily operations of the Volunteer Athletic Scholarship Fund, assisting in ticket assignment and working with donors. He also oversaw the Collegiate Club and managed a network of 130 volunteers. He was associate director of development from January 2000 to May 2001, overseeing the VASF and helping coordinate the Big Orange Caravan.

Myers held the post of director of annual giving from May 2001 to August 2002, managing the VASF to an all-time giving high of 13.26 million dollars and overseeing daily operations of the annual giving program. He was named assistant athletics director for development in August 2002, with oversight of the office of assistant director of development and five student workers in the development office.

A 1992 UT graduate in business administration and finance, Myers also earned his master's degree from Tennessee in education, human performance and sports studies in 1997. He is married to the former Rachel Keys of Gray, Tenn., and they have a two-year-old daughter, Kate.

RICK STARRATT
Director of Internet Communications

Rick Starratt was promoted to the Director of Internet Communications in September 2004 after working as the assistant since 2001. Starratt oversees all the content and design for the web sites for both the men's and women's athletic departments. Starratt returned to UT in 2001 after spending two and a half years at Total Sports in Raleigh, N.C., where he worked as the Live Event Operations Manager.

Previously, Starratt served as a graduate assistant for the Lady Vols, creating and maintaining the award-winning Lady Vol Web site from 1996-98. In 1998, he was hired full-time as the department's first Web master before departing later in the year. The Norton, Mass., native received a bachelor's degree in English literature and creative writing from Wheaton (Mass.) College in May 1996. He completed his work on a master's degree in sport administration at UT in May 1998. Starratt and his wife, Laura, were married in April 2003 and live in Knoxville.

DONNA THOMAS
Senior Associate Athletics Director

Donna Thomas is in her 15th year with the Lady Volunteers, having been promoted in January 2003 to senior associate athletics director. She is responsible for numerous aspects of the department, including NCAA, SEC and university rules and regulations; non-academic student-athlete services (housing, meals, financial aid, scholarships, etc.); event management; department policies and procedures; and day-to-day office operations.

Other responsibilities include supervising facility construction and renovation, coordinating the Lady Vols' portion of the adidas contract and serving as a member of numerous campus committees as well a recent stint on the NCAA Division I Track and Field Committee.

Thomas frequently serves on thesis and project committees for graduate students, serves as a guest lecturer for both undergraduate and graduate classes and is an adjunct professor in two colleges at UT. She has taught a facilities class in the Department of Health, Leisure and Safety and is a frequent speaker for a variety of campus and alumni groups.

Thomas first joined the staff as the head manager of the Lady Vol basketball team from 1978 to 1982 while working toward her bachelor's degree in secondary physical education. She then returned to Tennessee in 1990 as a graduate assistant in athletic administration and earned her master's degree in recreation and athletic administration.

During her time away from UT, Thomas served as the director of recreation ministries for Christ United Methodist Church in Memphis from 1982 to 1990. At CUMC, she managed the entire athletic and activity program of the 5,000-member church, including program development and planning.

ERIC TRAINER
Assistant Media Relations Director

Eric Trainer is in his ninth year as assistant media relations director at Tennessee after spending the previous six seasons as the director of media relations and marketing at Carson-Newman College. The cross country and track & field contact at UT, Trainer earned a degree in journalism from Arkansas in 1988 and completed his master's in sports administration and a three-year sports information assistantship at UT in 1991. A native of Princeton, Mo., Trainer has received numerous awards for publications he has produced, including five "Best In Nation" citations and five "Best Cover" accolades. He and his wife, Laura, a former Lady Vol basketball manager, reside in Knoxville with their seven-year-old son, Cameron, and year-old son, Griffin.

JOE WHITNEY, Ph.D.
Director of Mental Training

Now in his ninth year with Lady Vol athletics, Joe Whitney oversees the provision of mental training services to all UT athletes and teams. A 1982 graduate of Springfield College, he coached basketball and football in New York City for 13 years before leaving coaching to pursue graduate study in sport psychology. Whitney obtained a master's degree from the University of Virginia in 1997 and a Ph.D. from the University of Tennessee in 2000. He served as a graduate assistant and sport psychology consultant at UT before being named director of mental training in January 2002.

DARA WORRELL
Assistant Athletics Director for Development

Dara Worrell is in her second year as the Lady Vol assistant athletics director for development and 12th overall as a full-time staff member in the UT athletics department. Previously she had been assistant athletics director for ticket operations for both men's and women's athletics. Prior to that, she had served as an assistant athletics director for tickets and business for the Lady Vols since 1998 after serving as the ticket/business manager for the previous three seasons.

Worrell got her start at Tennessee during the 1993-94 season, when she worked as a marketing/promotions intern with the Lady Vols. She also assisted in volleyball promotions and basketball game management. Worrell later served as an administrative intern with the women's athletics department during the 1994-95 season. She was responsible for tickets, assisting with event management and compliance operations.

A native of Cookeville, Tenn., Worrell inherited a program with a strong base of donors and benefactors to the women's athletics department. She will continue pursuit of the department's long-term goal of fully endowing each sport and increasing contributions.

A 1993 graduate of Tennessee Technological University, Worrell earned a bachelor's degree in business administration/marketing. While at Tech, Worrell served as a student manager for the women's basketball team, which is coached by her father, Bill. Worrell is an August 1994 recipient of a master's degree from UT in recreation/sport management.

CRAIG WRISBERG, Ph.D.
Sport Psychology Consultant

Dr. Craig Wrisberg is a Professor of Sport Psychology in the Department of Exercise, Sport, and Leisure Studies. Since 1983, he has provided mental training consultation for both the Men's and Women's Athletics Departments. Most of his work is with the sports of football, tennis and track. Dr. Wrisberg also oversees the academic programs of graduate students in Sport Psychology and provides consulting support for the UT Mental Training Center under the direction of Dr. Joe Whitney. A native of St. Louis, Mo., Dr. Wrisberg has four advanced degrees, including a Ph.D. in Motor Behavior and M.A. in Psychology from the University of Michigan. He is currently the President of the Association for the Advancement of Applied Sport Psychology (AAASP) and is a Past President of the North American Society for the Psychology of Sport and Physical Activity. In 1993, he obtained Certified Consultant status from AAASP.

LADY VOL TRADITIONS

NICKNAME

The formation of the Women's Intercollegiate Athletics Department for the 1976-77 academic year prompted much discussion concerning a proper nickname for the distaff student-athletes. After long consideration and debate, it was decided the female student-athletes would be known as "Lady Volunteers" or "Lady Vols."

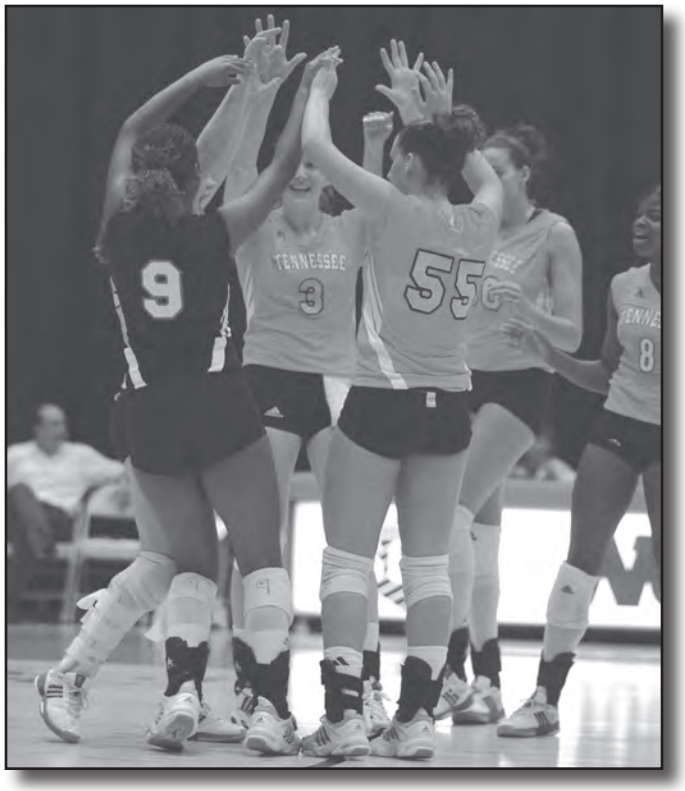
The University of Tennessee, as the state's land grant university, draws the nickname of its athletic teams (Volunteers) from the name most associated with the state. Tennessee acquired the name "The Volunteer State" in the early days of the 19th Century when General Andrew Jackson mustered large armies from his home state to fight the Indians and later the British at the Battle of New Orleans.

The name became even more prominent in the Mexican War when Governor Aaron V. Brown issued a call for 2,800 men to battle Santa Ana, and some 30,000 volunteered.

The name "Volunteers" or "Lady Volunteers" is frequently shortened to "Vols" or "Lady Vols" for the men's and women's athletic teams.

MASCOT

The official mascot is Smokey, a rather pleasant blue tick coon hound that has been on the job since 1953. The dog is a native breed of Tennessee and is in a line of canines used for hunting raccoons. The present Smokey, the ninth in a line of such dogs provided by the family of the late Rev. W.C. Brooks of Knoxville, is appropriately called Smokey IX. Smokey was chosen as a result of the 1953 Pep Club contest to select a mascot. At Lady Vol events, a human version of Smokey accompanies the cheerleaders.



SCHOOL COLORS

The colors Orange and White were selected by Charles Moore, a member of the first football team in 1891, and were later approved by a vote of the student body. The colors were those of the common American daisy which grew in profusion on "The Hill."

GRADUATION RATE

The Women's Athletics Department at the University of Tennessee is fully committed to the academic progress of each student-athlete in the Lady Vol program. When coaches recruit, they look for talented athletes who will work as hard in the classroom as they do during competition.

In fact, nearly all Lady Vol student-athletes who have remained with the program through their senior years have earned, or are in the process of earning, their degrees. In addition, 459 Lady Vols have been awarded a sum of 907 Academic All-Southeastern Conference citations after 38 student-athletes joined the ranks in 2004-05 and a total of 91 UT women were recognized last season.

SPORTSMANSHIP

Good sportsmanship is a necessary ingredient for wholesome athletic competition. The University of Tennessee cherishes the reputation its fans, students and athletes have earned for sportsmanship and for extending hospitality to our visitors. The Athletics Department urges Lady Vols fans to conduct themselves in such a way that will enhance the University's reputation for providing a cordial atmosphere at sporting events.

LADY VOL HALL OF FAME

The 2004 inductees at the Lady Vol Hall of Fame banquet (l-r): Jenny McGrath Weaver, Jasmin Jones Keller, J.J. Clark (accepting on behalf of the late Ilrey Oliver Sparks), Nikki McCray Pinson, Dr. Joseph E. Johnson and Robin Maine Bugg.

The six inductees of the Class of 2004 represent a highly respected university administrator and five outstanding student-athletes from as many Lady Vol sports. The honorees include former UT President Dr. Joseph E. (Joe) Johnson and athletes Jasmin Jones (track & field/cross country), Robin Maine (volleyball), Nikki McCray (basketball), Jenny McGrath (swimming) and the late Ilrey Oliver (track & field).

Enshrinement activities began on Oct. 22 with dinner and a private induction ceremony at Calhoun's on the River. From there, the guests of honor made the short trip to Stokely Athletics Center, where they were formally recognized during the key Southeastern Conference volleyball match between 17th-ranked Tennessee and No. 8 Florida.

The following day, some of the Hall of Famers met with their respective former Lady Vol teams during the morning. In the afternoon, the celebration moved to Neyland Stadium, where the honorees were saluted during the Tennessee versus Alabama football game in front of over 106,000 fans.

The new group of inductees joins three prior classes of Lady Vol Hall of Famers. In 2003, the Sept. 26 recipients included former UT Vice-Chancellor Dr. Howard Aldmon and athletes Cindy Brogdon (basketball), April Chapple (volleyball), Elizabeth Brown Jarvis (swimming), Cathy Rattray (track & field) and Patricia Roberts (basketball). The Class of 2002's six Oct. 4 inductees were former Head Track & Field/Cross Country Coach Terry Crawford and athletes Catherine Byrne Maloney (swimming), LaVonna Martin Floreal (track & field), Cindy Noble Hauserman (basketball), Holly Warlick (basketball) and Patty Wiegand Pitcher (track & field/cross country).

The inaugural class selected for the Lady Volunteer Hall of Fame was inducted on Oct. 26, 2001. The 10 original members are former UT President Edward J. Boling, first-ever Lady Vol Athletics Director Gloria Ray and athletes Daedra Charles (basketball), Joetta Clark (track & field), Benita Fitzgerald (track & field), Bridgette Gordon (basketball), Tracy Ignatosky (swimming), Peta and Paula Kelly (tennis) and Beverly Robinson (volleyball).

Athlete representatives previously inducted into the Lady Vol Hall of Fame include Olympian and All-American Cindy Brogdon (Basketball, 1977-79), All-American Liz Brown (Swimming, 1981-84), All-American Catherine Byrne (Swimming, 1989-92), All-American April Chapple (Volleyball, 1981-84), Olympian and All-American Daedra Charles (Basketball, 1988-91), Olympian and All-American Joetta Clark (Track & Field, 1981-84), Olympian and All-American Benita Fitzgerald (Track & Field, 1980-83), All-American Tracy Ignatosky (Swimming, 1987-89), Olympian and All-American Bridgette Gordon (Basketball, 1985-89), All-Americans Peta and Paula Kelly (Tennis, 1978-82), Olympian and All-American LaVonna Martin (Track & Field, 1984-88), Olympian and All-American Cindy Noble (Basketball, 1978-81), Olympian and All-American Cathy Rattray (Track & Field, 1981-84), Olympian and All-American Patricia Roberts (Basketball, 1976-77), Olympian and All-American Beverly Robinson (Volleyball, 1981-83), Olympian and All-American Holly Warlick (Basketball, 1976-80), and All-American Patty Wiegand (Track & Field, 1987-91). Administrators in the Hall include former University of Tennessee President Dr. Edward J. Boling (1970-88), former Lady Vol Track & Field/Cross Country Head Coach Terry Crawford (1974-84), Gloria Ray, the first women's athletics director at the University of Tennessee (1976-83) and the late Howard Aldmon, former UT Vice-Chancellor and the "Godfather" of UT Women's Athletics.

A selection committee chaired by UT Lady Vol Senior Associate Athletics Director Donna Thomas chose each of the first two classes as well as this years. In 2003, Carolyn Wares, former Assistant Athletics Director for Marketing and Promotions, chaired the selection committee. For consideration of induction into the Lady Vol Hall of Fame, eligible athletes must have graduated from UT and exhausted their collegiate eligibility at least 10 years ago, while administrators and coaches are eligible for induction five years after their last service to UT.

LADY VOLS AFTER COLLEGE

Through the years, a number of Lady Vols have gone on to achieve professional and international volleyball success after completing their collegiate careers.

Most recently, 2004 senior Michelle Piantadosi is playing professionally in Austria. In her career at Tennessee, she finished with a flourish, earning AVCA Honorable Mention All-American accolades as a senior. One who always stepped it up a notch in big matches, she notched career-high performances of 26 kills in Tennessee's dramatic 3-2 win at Florida on Nov. 14 to end the Gators' NCAA-record 145-match SEC regular-season winning streak and then matched the feat in the Big Orange's gritty 3-2 setback to Ohio State in the NCAA regional semifinals. Her 1,274 career kills places her ninth in all-time Lady Vol annals.

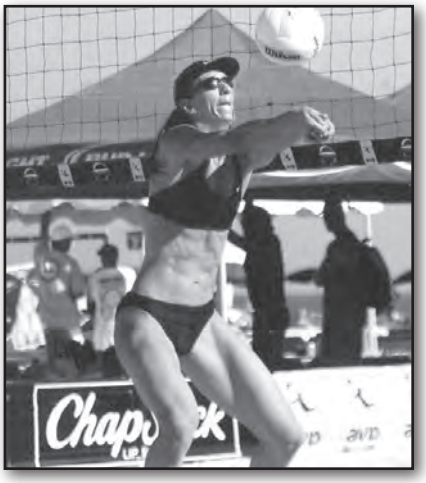
Tennessee legend Beverly Robinson, a charter inductee of the Lady Vol Hall of Fame, was a member of the U.S. National Training Team from 1984-89, competing for America in events such as the 1987 Pan Am Games and 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, South Korea. While at UT, Robinson was a three-time All-SEC honoree and became the volleyball program's first All-American in 1982. Although she graduated 20 years ago, Robinson's career hitting percentage of .359 still ranks first in Lady Vol history.

Former UT standout Dianne Shoemaker DeNecochea, a first-team All-SEC and All-East Central Region selection in 1987 and '88, currently plays on the AVP Pro Beach Volleyball Tour and FIVB Tour in doubles competition. She is one of the top-50 career money earners on the AVP Tour. Before joining the Tour, Shoemaker played professionally in Italy. She currently ranks fourth in Big Orange history with 1,544 career kills and 361 career blocks. In addition to her on-court skills, Shoemaker received Academic All-SEC recognition in 1986, '87 and '88, while also being named Academic All-District in 1987.

Kelly Hanlon, a two-time member of the All-SEC Second Team, went on to compete professionally in Austria after her days as a Lady Vol. Hanlon tallied a career total of 1,049 kills and led UT in that category in both 1995 and '96.

Ariana Wilson, a 2002 UT graduate, helped lead Tennessee to the NCAA Tournament in 2000 and went on to play with a professional team in Puerto Rico. Wilson finished her collegiate career as the Orange and White's all-time leader in attacks (3,881), while ranking second in both career kills (1,732) and blocks (466). She earned first-team All-SEC honors and AVCA All-Region IV accolades in 1999, 2000 and '01. Beyond volleyball, Wilson garnered Academic All-SEC recognition in each of her four Lady Vol seasons.

Beverly Robinson, the volleyball program's first All-American, went on to compete for the U.S. at the 1988 Olympic Games.



Former Lady Vol Dianne Shoemaker followed her collegiate career with a playing career on the AVP Pro Beach Volleyball Tour.

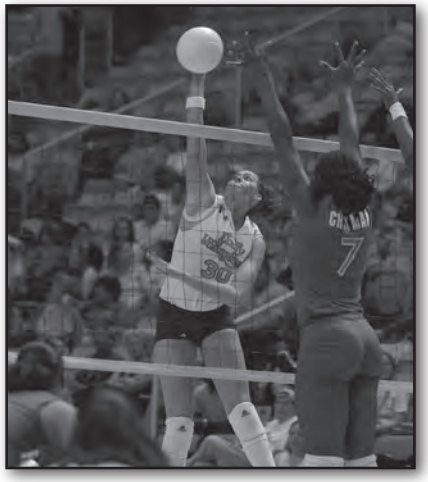
Ariana Wilson, a three-time All-SEC selection, spent time playing professionally in Puerto Rico following her Lady Vol career.



Michelle Piantadosi followed her AVCA Honorable Mention All-American campaign by going overseas and playing professionally in Austria.

LADY VOL CHAMPIONSHIP ATTITUDE

WHAT DOES BEING AN SEC CHAMPION MEAN TO YOU?

That, for the rest of my life, no one can take that accomplishment away from me.

– Annie Sadowski

Being the best team in the conference and knowing that every team is out to beat you.

– Jasmine Fullove

WHAT WERE YOUR PERSONAL FEELINGS AFTER WINNING THE SEC CHAMPIONSHIPS?

I have never felt so proud of an athletic accomplishment. The moment we won the game will be a moment frozen in our minds forever, because all our hard work paid off with a big reward.

– Annie Sadowski

I was overwhelmed. It was an indescribable feeling.

– Amy Morris

I was so proud that I was able to be a part of something great. It was a moment that I will cherish for the rest of my life.

– Heather Harrington

I felt a huge sense of accomplishment that all our hard work paid off.

– Sarah Blum

WHAT DID YOU LEARN FROM YOUR NCAA TOURNAMENT EXPERIENCE?

Once you get a taste of winning within the NCAA, you can't get enough.

– Amy Morris

That things get harder and harder the further you go and, in order to succeed, you have to work harder!

– Yuliya Stoyanova

HOW HAS THE COACHING STAFF INSTILLED A CHAMPIONSHIP ATTITUDE?

By pushing us every day and never accepting a lousy effort by the team or an individual.

– Amy Morris

They expect a lot out of us. At the end of last season, we were proud of where we got, but we saw that we could have gone much further. The coaches remind us of the challenges we will face within the coming season and push us to play with perfection.

– Lauren LaFlamme

By making us feel like a championship team in practice, making us set high goals like a championship team and to practice like a championship team.

– Joselyn Johnson

They are always ready to help us work hard and want to win as bad as we do.

– Julie Knytych

WHAT IS YOUR FAVORITE PART OF BEING A TENNESSEE VOLLEYBALL PLAYER?

Being part of a growing program that's showing the country how great we can be. Our program is soaring to new heights and to be part of the team that ended Florida's winning streak is something truly special, because it was one of the best streaks of all time in college sports. That will be in the history books forever, and no one will ever be able to take that away.

– Annie Sadowski

I love how much support we get. Most schools focus on men's sports because they are the biggest moneymakers, but here women's athletics are treated equally. It feels great to know that everyone's behind us.

– Heather Harrington

Having the resources to achieve anything, whether it is mentally or physically, on or off the court.

– Amy Morris

We are at the beginning of making the program a consistent force to be reckoned with. Being a part of that is very special.

– Lauren LaFlamme

EXPLAIN THE PRIDE OF WEARING THE ORANGE?

It is a humbling experience wearing the Lady Vol logo and orange. I feel so proud to show off the Big Orange colors. It's one of the greatest experiences of my life.

– Heather Harrington

At Tennessee, it is a great honor to wear orange and especially to be an athlete because of our school's strong success in athletics over the years. Being a Lady Vol is a special privilege known across the country.

-- Annie Sadowski

When I wear orange, I feel like part of a family and legacy.

-- Kristen Andre

WHAT ARE YOUR GOALS IN 2005?

SEC champs. SEC Tournament champs. FINAL FOUR!!! NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP!!!

– Heather Harrington

SEC champions again, a national championship and to show that Tennessee volleyball is here to stay, and we are NOT just a one-year wonder team.

– Annie Sadowski

ACADEMICS AND STUDENT LIFE

THORNTON CENTER MISSION STATEMENT

"The University of Tennessee and its Athletics Departments are fully committed to the academic success of each student-athlete. The mission of the Thornton Center and its staff is to provide the academic support, the educational programs and the learning environment in which all student-athletes have the opportunity to achieve their academic and personal goals. The Center also will encourage the student-athletes' participation in the many enriching opportunities available at the University and in the surrounding community."

THORNTON ATHLETICS STUDENT LIFE CENTER

With comprehensive services in advising, tutoring, counseling and management, UT's Office of Student Life supplies the Lady Volunteer and Volunteer student-athlete with all the tools necessary to be successful in the classroom.

It is part of a national trend that focuses on a need for programs to develop student-athletes' potential to be well-rounded, well-educated individuals. This is to make sure the student-athlete enjoys a successful adjustment to university life and eventually realizes a positive academic experience through counseling, tutoring, study hall and special needs assistance.

Rows of plaques line the Thornton Center honoring Tennessee's Academic All-America and Academic All-SEC selections. This lends further evidence that the word "student" in student-athlete is not just for show at Tennessee.

The Thornton Athletics Student Life Center is dedicated in honor of John Thornton, his wife, Eileen, and their family, in recognition of the commitment they made to the establishment of the building. Their family's generous gift has funded construction of one of the most significant buildings in the University of Tennessee athletic complex. His gift to the Thornton Athletics Student Life Center project, an academic home for University of Tennessee student-athletes, reflects his belief that success starts with academics.

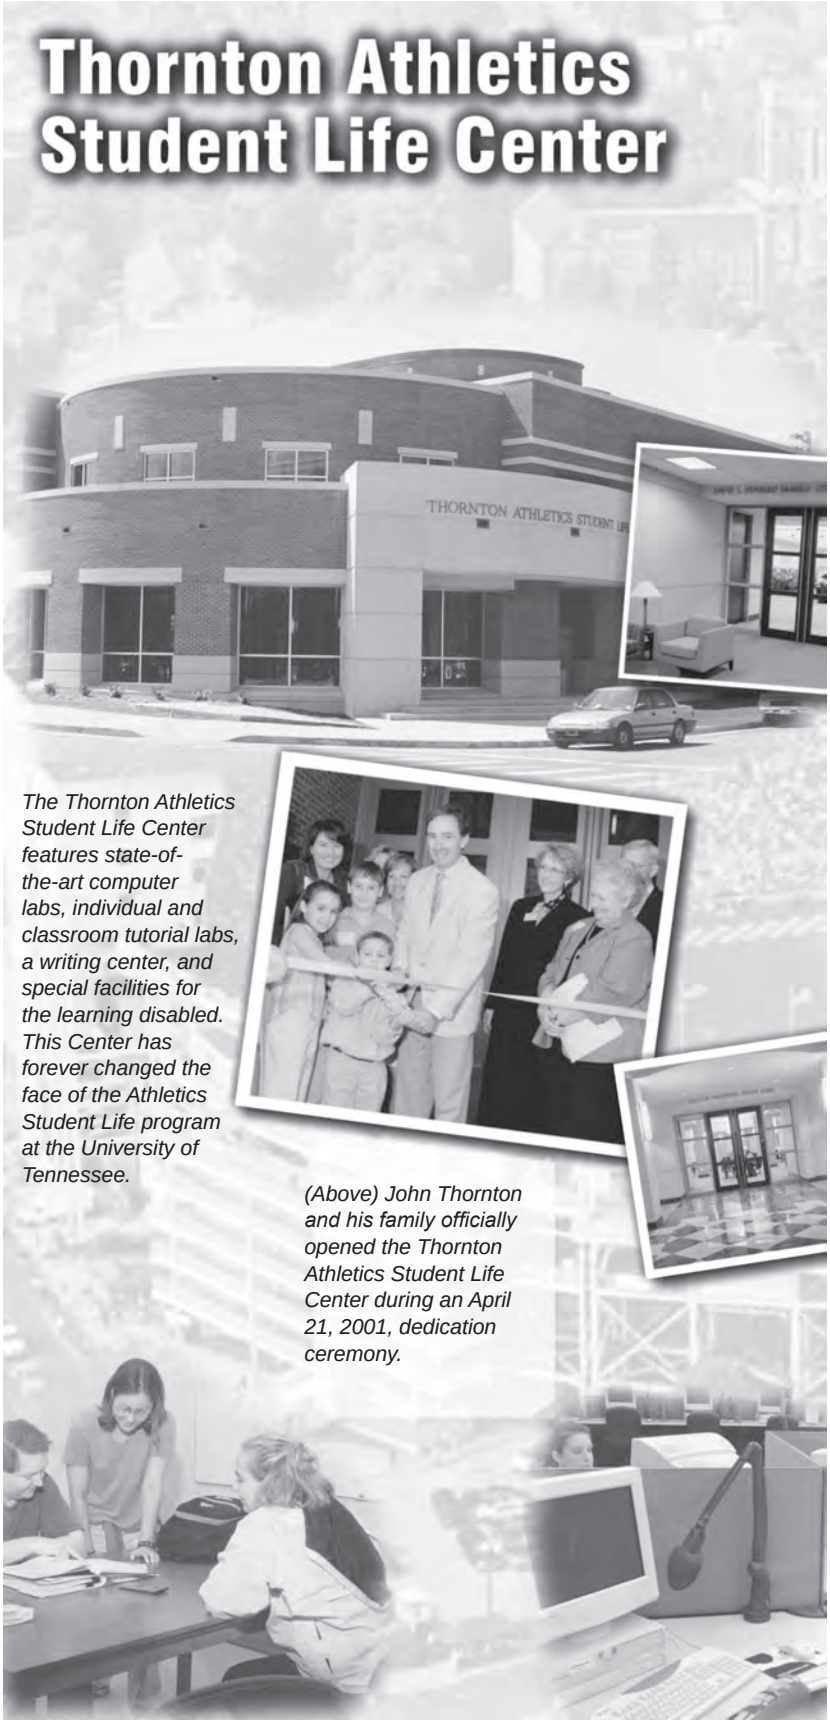
"The University of Tennessee has to do its best to provide the atmosphere and academic assistance to the young men and women who come to school here and participate in athletics," he said. A native of Blount County, Thornton has built an impressive résumé of business success and community service. A member of UT's Board of Trustees, Thornton and his family have served the university well over the years and his legacy will be reflected in the lives of each of the young student-athletes served within the Thornton Center.

THORNTON CENTER QUICK FACTS

- The Thornton Athletics Student Life Center, completed in the spring of 2001, is the hub for all academic support and student life activities for Lady Volunteer and Volunteer student-athletes.
- The Thornton Center houses two study rooms: the Peyton Manning Study Area, located on the main level, and the Lyle Finley Study Area, located on the second floor. Each comfortably accommodates 60 students.
- The David L. Howard & Family Computer Lab provides up-to-date technological facilities for University of Tennessee student-athletes. The computer lab houses 48 computers, three laser printers and five scanners.

"The Thornton Athletics Student Life Center is the nicest facility for a student-athlete to reach their potential academically at the University of Tennessee. The resources it provides to students cannot be measured in any way but our graduation rate."

— Rob Patrick
Lady Vol Volleyball Coach



The Thornton Athletics Student Life Center features state-of-the-art computer labs, individual and classroom tutorial labs, a writing center, and special facilities for the learning disabled. This Center has forever changed the face of the Athletics Student Life program at the University of Tennessee.

(Above) John Thornton and his family officially opened the Thornton Athletics Student Life Center during an April 21, 2001, dedication ceremony.

THORNTON ATHLETICS STUDENT LIFE CENTER STAFF

ERIC BREY
Director of the Thornton Center

Eric Brey is in his first year as director of the Thornton Athletics Student Life Center. He oversees the academic support and CHAMPS/Life Skills program for University of Tennessee student-athletes.

Prior to his current position, Brey was the associate athletic director for academics at the University of Wyoming from 2002 to 2005. His responsibilities included the oversight of the Office of Academic Support, monitoring both initial and continuing eligibility, campus relations and game day operations. Prior to his position at Wyoming, Brey served as the assistant director for academics and eligibility at the University of Colorado from 2000 to 2002 and assistant director for the Achievement Center for intercollegiate athletics at Southwest Missouri State University from 1996 to 2000. While working on his graduate degree, he was an athletics intern at the University of Kansas working with a variety of offices within the department.

Brey actively works with the National Association for Academic Advisors for Athletics, Division I-A Athletic Directors Association's CHAMPS program and the NCAA Educational Services office.

Brey earned both his degrees, bachelor's (1994) and master's (1996), from the University of Kansas. He and his wife, Jana, have one son, Jacob.

CHAMPS

"Program of Excellence"

Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success

The CHAMPS program helps student-athletes realize higher academic achievement and increases the likelihood of retention. Student-athletes graduate and enter a chosen profession with a higher level of vision, maturity, knowledge, motivation and greater overall success. The Tennessee/CHAMPS LifeSkills program has also been honored with the Program of Excellence Award by the NCAA. The award is given annually to any school that displays excellence is meeting the five components of a student-athlete's total development: academics, athletics, career and personal development and community service.

Components

Academics – The Tennessee Athletics Department provides a total program of academic assistance.
Athletics – The Tennessee Athletics Department administers an athletics program that dedicates itself to the well-being of the student-athlete.
Career Development – The Tennessee Athletics Department provides a support program that prepares student-athletes for matriculation from the university and athletics into the work force.
Personal Development – The Tennessee Athletics Department provides information that enhances the development of student-athletes personally, socially and fundamentally.
Community Service – The Tennessee Athletics Department provides the student-athlete with the community service opportunities that improve self-esteem and strengthen the relationship between student-athletes and the community.

"The Thornton Center provides the ideal environment for implementing all of the components of the CHAMPS/LifeSkills Program. The prestigious Award of Excellence is prominently displayed in the Center, where student-athletes have top-notch staff and resources to ensure that their academic achievement and personal development are maximized."

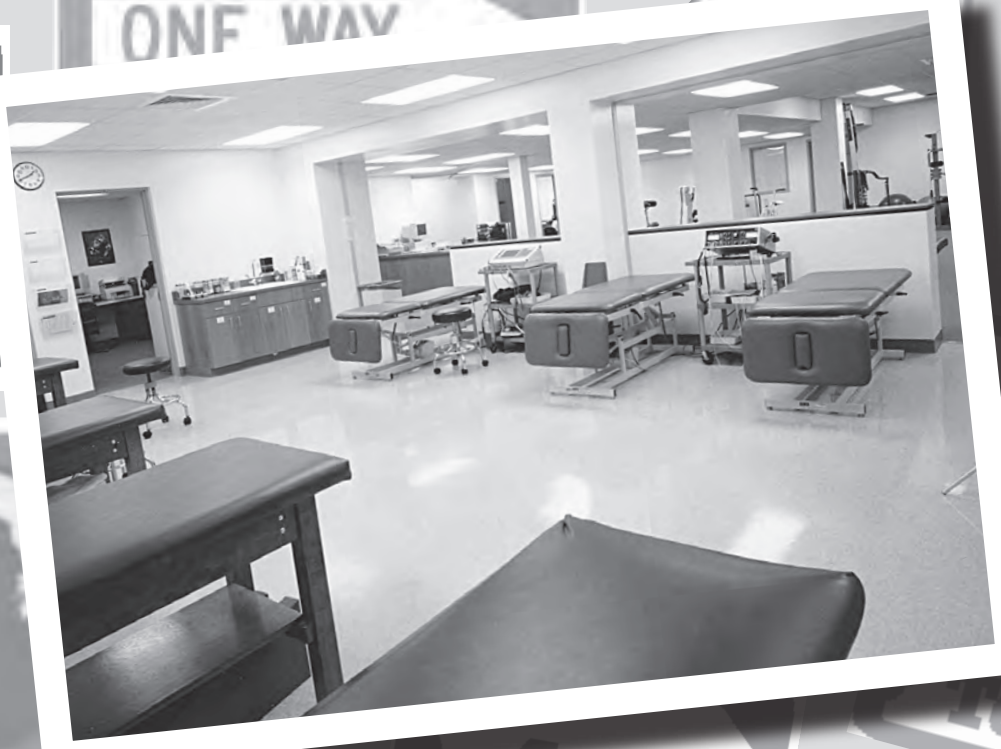
ATHLETIC TRAINING STRENGTH & CONDITIONING



LADY VOL ATHLETIC TRAINING

TEAM ENHANCE

Team ENHANCE (Enhancing Nutrition, Health, Athletic Performance, Networking, Community and Education), a program to help female student-athletes with issues that affect performance, has been established by a group of University professional staff members and experts from the private sector. Issues such as nutrition, body composition, diet, eating disorders and mental health, and their effects on the health, well-being and performance of the female student-athlete, are dealt with through the guidelines, policies and procedures that have been established by Team ENHANCE. The following experts compose Team ENHANCE: the team physician, athletic trainers, eating disorder/addictions specialist, nutritionists, therapists/counselors, strength and conditioning coaches, exercise physiologist, coaches, athletic administrators, sport sociologist and sport psychologists. Through this integrated team, the staff provides education and early intervention for the student-athlete's emotional, mental and physical health, well being and performance.

In December 1998, a new era dawned for Lady Vol athletic training, as the state-of-the-art University of Tennessee women's athletics training room opened its doors. The 5,600 square-foot sports care center for female athletes stacks up as one of the nation's best facilities devoted solely to women.

The Lady Vol training room features a modality area and adequate space for functional rehabilitation, aerobic training, hydrotherapy and practice preparation (taping). Additionally, there are administrative areas, a private exam room and a private bathroom for drug testing. The modality area, with room for nine treatment tables, is equipped with the latest technology to care for athletes. Of the nine treatment stations, three feature adjustable high/low tables for manual therapy.

With functional rehabilitation being the key factor in a student-athlete's recovery from injury, a large portion of the facility is devoted solely to this purpose. There are two mat tables for stretching and other exercises and an abundance of space for proprioceptive and strengthening exercises. Also included in this sector is the aerobic training area, where student-athletes stay cardiovascularly fit to ensure a smooth transition back to practice and competition. Included among the cardiovascular equipment are stationary bikes, a treadmill, elliptical machines, a slide board, a Versa Climber and a UBE (upper body extremity) machine.

Another impressive feature of the new facility is the hydrotherapy area. Along with two traditional whirlpools, there is also a pair of whirlpool spas. The larger one, which is 14 feet x 8 feet and five feet deep, allows athletes to have aqua-therapy at the training room rather than going to a large pool at the aquatic center. The three-foot-deep smaller spa measures 10 feet x 7 feet, providing a great deal of space for Lady Vols to loosen up sore muscles.

The construction of this gem provides UT with an exceptional facility to match the top-notch personnel on hand to care for Lady Volunteer athletes.

JENNY MOSHAK, ATC/L, C.S.C.S.

Assistant Athletics Director for Sports Medicine

Jenny Moshak is in her 17th year with the Lady Vols. She oversees all sports medicine, athletic training, rehabilitation, and strength and conditioning, and continues to work directly with basketball. Moshak's vision led to the creation of UT's unique program, Team ENHANCE, which creates a healthy culture for the Lady Vol student-athletes so they can achieve personal bests in their sports and in their lives. Under her direction, the UT Women's Athletics Department established the program to assist student-athletes in the nutritional, mental and emotional aspects of performance, with the guidance of UT professional staff, coaches and a comprehensive group of medical experts from the private sector. A graduate of Western Michigan in physical education, Moshak also holds a master's degree from UT in exercise physiology. She spent one year on the sports medicine/athletic training staff at Penn State before returning to UT as head athletic trainer in 1989. The Skokie, Ill., native has been a certified member of the National Athletic Trainers' Association since 1986, a certified strength and conditioning specialist since 1997 and is an adjunct professor with the Exercise Science Department. Moshak is often invited to speak at conferences and workshops across the country.

CHRIS HOFMANN, ATC/L

Associate Athletic Trainer

Chris Hofmann is in her 14th year with the Lady Volunteers and works most closely with the soccer team, as well as assisting in the overall operation of the athletic training room. Hofmann came to UT after working five years as the coordinator of athletic training services in a private sports medicine clinic in Waterford, Mich. Hofmann earned her bachelor's degree from Wisconsin-La Crosse with a major in physical education and an emphasis in coaching and athletic training and earned her M.A. from Western Michigan in athletic training in 1985. The Glen Ellyn, Ill., native has been a certified member of the NATA since 1986.

LADY VOL ATHLETIC TRAINING

CATHERINE JOHNSON, ATC/L, LMT
Assistant Athletic Trainer

Catherine Johnson is in her eighth year as assistant athletic trainer. She continues her responsibilities as the home-based athletic trainer, overseeing the golf team and assisting other staff members with sport coverage and injury rehabilitation. Her other duties include administrative responsibilities and post-season event coverage. She has been a member of the staff at Tennessee since 1994, serving as a graduate assistant and intern assistant. Johnson graduated from Guilford College in 1994 with a degree in sports medicine, received her master's degree in sports psychology from UT in 1997 and became a licensed massage therapist in 1999. The Thomasville, N.C., native and her husband, Tyler, reside in Louisville, Tenn.

AMANDA SHIELDS, ATC/L
Assistant Athletic Trainer

Amanda Shields is in her third year on the Lady Vol athletic training staff and was elevated to full-time status in August 2004. Her primary responsibility is working with the cross country and track & field programs. Shields graduated from the College of Charleston in 2003 with degrees in athletic training and physical education & health with an emphasis in exercise science. In addition, she served as an athletic training intern at North Greenville College in Greenville, S.C., during the spring of 2003. The Chesnee, S.C., native graduated from UT in December 2004 with a master's degree in safety with an emphasis in emergency management.

Dr. Rebecca "Becky" Morgan is in her eighth year as the team physician for the Lady Vols. She is board certified in family practice and has a Certificate of Special Qualifications in sports medicine. Dr. Morgan received her medical doctorate from the University of South Alabama and completed her family practice residency training at the University of Alabama School of Medicine in Huntsville. She also served her sports medicine fellowship at UASOM-Huntsville in 1996. Dr. Morgan completed a volunteer physician internship at the Olympic Training Center in Chula Vista, Calif., and is a consulting physician for USA Swimming. She also served as the team physician for USA Swimming at the 2001 Goodwill Games in Brisbane, Australia. Prior to joining the staff at UT, Dr. Morgan spent two years in private practice in Franklin, Tenn., where she participated in the care of local high school athletes.

KRISTEN MARTIN
L.C.S.W. Team ENHANCE Coordinator

Kristen Martin is a licensed clinical social worker and in her fourth year as the coordinator of the Team ENHANCE program. Her primary responsibility is providing individual and group counseling to Lady Vol athletes. She also consults with coaches and teams, sets up educational seminars, and conducts assessments on an as needed basis. Martin is a member of the USA Swimming Disordered Eating Task Force as well as a member of the Female Athlete Triad Coalition. Previously, she worked as a therapist in a residential treatment center for young women. Martin claimed Social Worker of the Year honors in 1998 for the Knox Area Branch of the National Association of Social Workers. The Orange, Calif., native received a bachelor's degree in psychology from Pepperdine in 1991 and a master's degree in clinical social work from UT in 1997. Martin also understands intimately the athlete's mind as she lettered all four years on the Pepperdine swim team and captained the squad during her senior season. Martin lives in Powell, Tenn., with her husband, Mike, and their three children, Ryan, Anna and Caroline.

PRISCILLA BOLIN
Eating Disorders/Addictions Specialist

Priscilla Bolin is the eating disorders/addictions consultant for Team ENHANCE. Bolin is the clinical outreach coordinator for Pine Grove Behavioral Health and Addiction Services in Hattiesburg, Miss. She has volunteered her time in the establishment and continuation of Team ENHANCE. Her greatest contribution to the program is her monitoring of the system and its effective operation in meeting the needs of the women's athletics department. Bolin has experience working in the field of social work and is a certified masters addiction counselor and a certified social worker addictions counselor.

BRIAN LEHMANN, M.S., R.D., L.D.N., C.S.C.S., S.C.C.C.
Sports Nutritionist

Brian Lehmann holds the position of Sports Nutritionist for University of Tennessee Athletics. Lehmann has been affiliated with Tennessee Athletics since July 2001. He came to the UT from Kansas State University as a graduate assistant strength and donditioning doach, where he earned certification through the College Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association. In 2003, Lehmann was promoted to the position of sports nutritionist, and currently serves both men's and women's athletics in this capacity. He is a registered dietitian with the American Dietetic Association and a licensed nutritionist in Tennessee.

In addition to his responsibilities in Athletics, he is an instructor in the Department of Nutrition and takes a hands-on approach to teaching applied sports nutrition to student-athletes. Lehmann is fortunate to have a fine network of nationally recognized dietitians and nutritional scientists available for referral through the Department of Nutrition and the Knoxville District Dietetic Association, including an experienced Eating Disorder Consultant in Karen Wetherall. He and his wife, Miranda live in Maryville and have a son, Eli.

KAREN WETHERALL, R.D., L.D.N.
Nutritionist Consultant

Karen Wetherall is in her 11th year as a consultant for the Lady Vol Athletics Department. She provides support and works with individual athletes to enhance performance through good nutrition. Wetherall also works in the Department of Nutrition as the dietetic internship director and has a private practice working with eating disorders. Her educational background includes an M.S. in nutrition education from Boston University and a B.S. in food and nutrition from Marymount College of Fordham University. She and her husband, Chris, reside in Oak Ridge.

LADY VOL STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

Since 1992, the Lady Volunteer Strength and Conditioning program has played an integral role in the training and development of female athletes at the University of Tennessee. The Lady Vol strength and conditioning coaches, consisting of two full-time and two graduate assistant staff members, have two primary goals: to maximize strength and power, which will transfer to increased sport performance, and to decrease the likelihood and severity of injury.

The Lady Vol weight room is approximately 4,500 square feet and equipped primarily with free weights, which allow for optimal functional training and athletic enhancement. Specialized equipment, including Olympic platforms and squat/power racks, allow for the specific environment for teaching proper technique to student-athletes, regardless of size.

The strength staff is responsible for the design and implementation of programs for all 11 varsity sports. These programs feature resistance training and conditioning protocols, including plyometric, speed and aerobic/anaerobic training.

The Lady Vol weight room environment is one of both camaraderie and competition at the highest levels. This facility and its staff are dedicated to meet the unique needs of Tennessee's female student-athletes.

The strength and conditioning coaches, athletic, trainers and sport coaches work very closely to design workouts with this purpose in mind: to challenge each student-athlete to reach her potential in her sport and be proud to be a Lady Vol.

STOKELY ATHLETICS CENTER

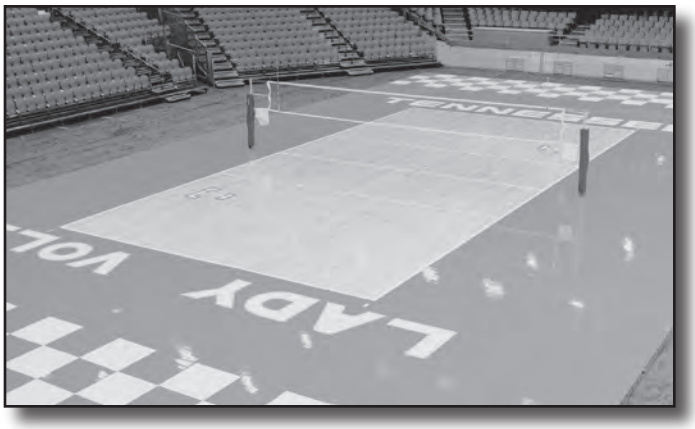
Home of the Lady Volunteers (1989, 1998-Present)



The 1998 season marked the return of the Tennessee Lady Vol volleyball team to Stokely Athletics Center for the first time since the conclusion of the 1989 campaign. The Lady Vols debuted their new facility against Florida Atlantic on Sept. 4 in the Toyota Lady Vol Classic. The match, which Tennessee won, 3-0, drew the third-largest crowd at the time (737) to witness a volleyball match at the University of Tennessee, including matches played at Alumni Gymnasium.

Tennessee made the most of its new digs, finishing the season with an impressive 11-2 home mark with its only losses coming at the hands of NCAA Tournament participants Florida and South Carolina. The Lady Vols' home mark was the third-best in the conference in 1998, behind only Florida (19-0) and Arkansas (17-2). Following the 14-1 home mark earned by the 2004 squad, the Lady Vols are 76-29 all-time in the facility and have a .724 winning percentage.

As many teams found out the past seven seasons, entering Stokely can be a very overwhelming, if not daunting, task for the opposition. In 1998, the Lady Vols rolled to nine straight wins in their lair before dropping a hard-fought match to the Gamecocks. Tennessee made the most of the momentum Stokely generated as the team even took a game from the Gators for the first time since 1996. In 1999, the Orange and White used their home-court advantage to advance to the second round of the Southeastern Conference Tournament for the third straight year as Stokely played host to the event in November.

The Lady Vols also hosted the 2001 tournament, losing a 3-2 battle with South Carolina in the first round. In 2002, UT continued its impressive performance on the checkerboard, amassing a 9-4 record in Stokely. The 2003 campaign saw the Lady Vols earn their best record to date at Stokely, 9-1, with the only setback coming in a five-game affair against Michigan at the Toyota Knoxville Lady Vol Classic. The Big Orange then raised the record to a new level in 2004, recording a 14-1 mark and winning its first two NCAA Tournament matches to be played in the building.

STOKELY ATHLETICS CENTER

The 2005 home volleyball campaign will be contested at the Stokely Athletics Center, marking the eighth season since the team's return to the facility in 1998. The multi-million dollar renovation of Stokely culminated with the Orange and White's home opener before a crowd of 737 against Florida Atlantic in the Toyota Lady Vol Classic on Sept. 4, 1998.

Stokely Athletics Center was reconfigured to provide a 5,000-seat spectator viewing area for volleyball. The building also houses the offices of the Women's and Men's Athletics Departments as well as Army and Air Force ROTC. It was originally called the UT Armory Fieldhouse in 1958 and seated just over 7,000 basketball spectators. Through the generosity of the late William B. Stokely, Jr., further construction was completed. On Dec. 1, 1966, the facility was renamed to honor the Stokely family and featured a seating capacity of 12,700.

For the past 30 years, the bulk of the Women's Athletics Department offices has been housed in Stokely, including Academics, Athletic Training, Compliance, Event Management, Golf Coaches, Media Relations, Rowing Coaches, Soccer Coaches, Softball Coaches, Strength and Conditioning, Track and Field Coaches and Volleyball Coaches. Already possessing the largest women's-only weight room facility in the nation, student-athletes also have a new state-of-the-art training room. In 2001, Academics moved out of Stokely and made its way into the plush Thornton Athletics Student Life Center just across Volunteer Blvd. from its old site, while the rowing staff relocated to a brand new $2.5 million boathouse on the riverfront in the winter of 2000.

Stokely Athletics Center was home to both the men's basketball team (1967-87) and Coach Pat Head Summitt and the perennial powerhouse Lady Volunteer basketball team from 1976-87. Today, the new reconfiguration has added a back-up practice court for use when Thompson-Boling Arena has a scheduling conflict. Tennessee's volleyball squad used the building during the 1989 season, and the school hosted the Women's Invitational Volleyball Championships in 1990.

POSITIONAL INFORMATION

VOLLEYBALL BY POSITION

Defensive Specialist – A player who only plays in the back row. The main responsibility of the DS is to pass the ball off a serve and dig the opponents' attacks.

Libero - A designated back-row player intended to be used as a ball-control specialist. The libero cannot attack or set inside the attack line.

Middle Blocker – Usually one of the best blockers on the team, the middle blocker is responsible for blocking an opponent's attack. Additionally, they attack off the quick set close to the setter.

Outside Hitter – Will normally have the most attacks in a match. An OH is responsible for passing and hitting the outside sets. They may also contribute on a block.

Right Side – A player who has the best all around skills on the court because the position requires the player to block, pass and hit all types of sets. The right side player is not necessarily limited to swings from the right side.

STOKELY ATHLETICS CENTER

Head Coach Rob Patrick has amassed a 68-22 record (.756 pct.) on the Stokely Athletics Center court since its multi-million dollar renovation that was completed prior to the 1998 season. In 2004, the Lady Vols posted a spectacular 14-1 mark (.933 pct.), including a pair of victories in the first NCAA Tournament matches to be contested on the floor. Since returning to Stokely, which features the widely recognized orange and white checkerboard pattern reminiscent of the storied tradition of Vol Football's Neyland Stadium, the Lady Vols have seen six of the top nine crowds in Tennessee Volleyball history. UT has also hosted the SEC Tournament twice in recent years (1999 & 2001). This season, the Big Orange welcomes Baylor, Central Michigan and College of Charleston to the Comcast Lady Vol Classic over Sept. 10-11 in addition to playing host to eight Southeastern Conference matches.

The Lady Vols' home away from the dorm, a locker room/team room combination, sits just feet off the Stokely Athletics Center volleyball court. In the team room, players can relax and take a break from it all on the leather couch while watching their big screen television, or they can hit the books in the study area. Each Lady Vol also has her own personalized locker and stool in the spacious locker room.
